Report President Will Act If GE Strike Begins Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mammoth General Electric Co. appeared headed today toward the biggest strike in its history in a showdown climaxing years of strained labor relations.

The giant firm, with more than $6-billion a year sales of a multitude of products from light bulbs to jet aircraft engines, faces a walkout by some 125,000 workers at 12:01 a.m. Monday.

"There is an explosion brewing here," said a spokesman for 11 unions that have banded together this year for the first time to take on the big firm in contract negotiations.

President Johnson, who named three Cabinet members to try to resolve the tough dispute, is reported ready to invoke an 80-day Taft-Hartley injunction to halt a strike because of production vital to the war in Viet Nam.

But union spokesmen president that pent up resentment among union workers would be even worse after the 80 days ran out.

So important is the case to organized labor that President George Meany of the 13.5-million member AFL-CIO is heading a committee advising the unions involved.

Meany to Summon Chiefs

Meany reportedly will call a meeting Friday of the chiefs of the 11 unions, led by Paul Jennings, President of the International Union of Electrical Workers. Jennings' union represents 80,000 General Electric Workers.

The special White House panel Tuesday curtly brushed aside a company proposal for a voluntary no-strike pledge at defense plants for 60 days and a vote among employes on the company's "final" offer after that.

"We did not think it was responsive to the President's request," said Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor, speaking for the panel.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance agreed. Vance is sitting in for Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who is in South Viet Nam.

A government source said the General Electric proposal amounted to suggesting that the White House panel get out of the dispute.

Wirtz said he would probably call a face-to-face meeting of the two sides today for the first time since the talks were moved here 10 days ago after Johnson won a two-week strike postponement.

"As things stand now, we're on strike at 12:01 a.m. (local time) Monday," a union spokesman said.

The company has offered wage increases it estimates at about 4 per cent a year, an additional 6 cents an hour in cost-of-living pay hikes and improved insurance and pensions and other benefits.

Rest Not Good Enough

The unions have acknowledged it as the best contract offer ever received from General Electric — but not good enough.

They want a bigger cost-of-living increase, arguing that wages hikes in the company's

Bishop Installed Today, Church History Is Made

Church history was made today in Esopus as Bishop James James E. McManus was installed as the first episcopal vicar of Ulster and Sullivan Counties.

Bishop McManus was installed at noontime ceremonies at Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary Chapel. The most Rev. John J. Maguire, coadjutor Archbishop of New York conducted the installation and presided at the Mass of concelebration which accompanied the rites. Bishop McManus was celebrant.

Concelebrants of the Mass were the Reverend Fathers John G. Russell, Holy Name, Kingston, Edward I. Farrelly, St. Mary's, Kingston; Joseph Hickey, St. Joseph's, New Paltz; James J. LeBar, St. Catherine Laboure, Lake Katrine; Francis P. Brennan, St. Peter's, Kingston and John P. Lerhinan, CSsR, of Mount St. Alphonsus, Esopus.

Chaplains to Archbishop Maghire were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Joseph's, Kingston, dean of Ulster County; and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Aloysius A. Weber, pastor of St. Peter's, Monticello, dean of Sullivan County. Chaplains to Bishop McManus were the Rev. James Keating, St. Joseph's, Kingston, and the Rev. Joel Munzing, OFM, St. Joseph's Seraphic Seminary, Calicoon.

Challenge Lindbloom Petition

Board Refuses Request For Registration Books

Although the Secretary of State has requested that the regisration books from all 104 election districts in Ulster County be produced for examination at the Eric Lindbloom nominating petitions trial in Albany, the Ulster County election commissioners have declined to produce the registers unless subpoenaed.

Challenges to 2,693 of the signatures on the Lindbloom (peace candidate) petitions were filed by Irwin Karchmer of Ellenville, office manager for Channel Master, Inc. Incumbent Democratic Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, who is a candidate for re-election, is a co-owner of Channel Master, but contends that Karchmer is "acting on his own" in the contest.

Heard in Albany

The matter is being heard before Ulster County Judge Raymond J. Mino, who is sitting in Albany as a Supreme Court Justice.

Monday was spent in discussions on the matter, laying out ground rules and on Tuesday the case went into open court. Mino quashed subpoenas for over 15 witnesses who had been called to testify in the trial of the alleged fraud on the nominating petitions of Eric Lindbloom who is the peace candidate for Congress in the 28th Congressional District, which includes Ulster County.

Following a day of examination and cross-examination, the case was adjourned until Thursday.

The Independent Committee for Lindbloom charge that Karchmer is a "front man for someone else."

Noel Tepper, who appears for Eric Lindbloom, charges that Karchmer is not acting in his own behalf but as a "front man" and opposed the challenge of Karchmer who alleges that many of the signatures to the nominating petitions are illegal.

Reserved Decision

Judge Mino reserved decision on a motion to dismiss the petition of Karchmer on the grounds Irwin Karchmer is not a real party and his complaint does not meet the provisions of the Election Law.

The Independent Voters Committee alleges that the court

Withall Objects To Current Need In Wards 7 and 8

Proposals advanced today by Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan for the need for additional schools in the Seventh and Eighth Wards of the city, did not meet the support of approval of Arthur H. Withall, president of the Kingston Consolidated Board of Education.

Mayor Garraghan noted that under Neighborhood Standards of the Public Housing Administration, one requirement is "The neighborhood will be readily accessible to public transportation, schools, churches, playgrounds and shopping."

Would Use Colege, Park

In conversation with a Freeman reporter at the City Hall this morning, Mayor Garraghan said to develop Broadway-East and Broadway-West a new kindergarten through the sixth grade should be constructed in the Seventh Ward, and the school on West Chestnut Street should be used for grade school students when the Ulster County Community College has moved to the new location at Stone Ridge.

The mayor suggested Cornell Park as a suitable site for a new school, noting that there already is a playground available there and the new road planned would eliminate much of the traffic in the area.

Chest Figures

A total of $140,642 has now been pledged for the 1967 Ulster County Community Chest drive, it was revealed this morning.

The pledges represent 46.9 in the campaign to raise $299,600 by Oct. 15. A total of $158,958 is still outstanding.

Charles E. Raible and George W. Tamke are campaign chairmen.

Solons Are Eager to Close Shop

Speed May Move Up Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hopes for adjournment of Congress before the end of next week mounted today after one of the busiest legislative days of the year.

In a burst of speed Tuesday, the House and Senate acted on many major pieces of legislation.

Senate Meets Earlier

Leaders have set Oct. 22 as the latest date for adjournment. But after Tuesday's activity some were saying Oct. 20 looked good. Many members are eager to return home to devote full time to campaigning for the Nov. 8 elections.

The Senate meets today two hours ahead of time to act on one of three remaining appropriations bills — a $406-million District of Columbia measure.

Then it expects to send to President Johnson a compromise $4.1-billion appropriations bill to finance public works projects across the nation.

Next it will turn to a bulky foreign investors tax bill designed to make it more attractive for foreigners to invest in America.

The administration has pushed strongly for the bill, which passed the House in June. Supporters said it should improve America's position in international balance of payments.

No Votes in House

The House has agreed not to take any votes today because a number of its members were to

Dutchess Granted 118 Acres for Park, Recreation

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Dutchess County has been granted 118 acres of land that formerly was part of the Hudson River State Hospital tract to be used for park and recreation purposes, Gov. Rockefeller said today.

The land was valued at more than $35,000 by Gen. C.V.R. Schuyler, commissioner of the office of general Services.

In addition to the 118 acres, Rockefeller said, the state expected to give an additional 41 acres to the Hyde Park Central School District in the near future.

The property is in the Towns of Hyde Park and Poughkeepsie.

Poughkeepsie Is Overpaid $150,000 From State Fund

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Accounting errors in the state Tax Department's sales tax records have led to the state over paying the City of Poughkeepsie by more than $150,00, a city official says.

City Manager Theodore Maurer said the error went undetected for 10 months after the confusion began in August 1965 when depository banks returned sales tax revenues on a 50-50 basis to the city and state.

The banks should have turned over two-thirds of the revenue to the state and one-third to the city, he said, noting that the state sales tax of two per cent was imposed upon a one per cen city sales tax last year.

Before enactment of the state sales tax the city had a two per cent sales tax. The state tax went into effect August 1965.

In Albany, State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy, said, "It is difficult to understand why the city would expect more revenue from its one per cent tax than it ever received from its two per cent tax, and why, when its intitial distributions ran in excess of reasonable estimates, it did not call this to our attention."

Maurer said the city got $77,745 from the banks for the month of August last year. This included the undetected overpayment. The figure was used to compute the city's annual income from the tax, expected to total $875,000.

The overpayments continued for the next nine months, he said. The error apparently was noticed, he said, because the quarterly payment in August was correct.

Commissioner Murphy has said he is willing to adjust "any overpayments" to avoid inconveniences.

But Maurer said the Tax Department had "goofed on this horribly." "We would be accused of sloppy management" if the city made the same mistake, he concluded.

Pike Quits Church Post Over Charge

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—James A. Pike resigned today as auxiliary bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of California.

The controversial former Episcopal bishop of California told the Greenstoro Record he was resigning so his diocese or his successor will not be officially involved in his dispute with the Rt. Rev. Henry Louttit, Episcopal bishop of South Florida.

Demands Correction

Bishop Louttit has initiated heresy charges against Pike and in recent days has been involved in a second controversy with the Californian over Pike's remarks about Luci Johnson Nugent joining the Roman Catholic Church.

Pike today demanded a public correction of a statement last Thursday by Louttit, in which he charged Pike had been "judgmental" against Luci Nugent.

Pike said that if there is not such a correction forthcoming he may attempt civil or ecclesiastical action or both against Bishop Louttit.

Pike said he is demanding a correction by Louttit "to help repair the damage to his ecumenical relationship with Roman Catholic universities and seminaries" at which he frequently speaks on theology.

On Speaking Tour

Pike, a staff member at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, Calif., is in Durham on a four-day speaking engagement at Duke University. He resigned as bishop of the California Episcopal diocese last May.

Pike said his resignation today as auxiliary bishop of California will not curtail his church activities there and he will remain as an honorary canon of Grace Cathedral in San Francisco.

The dispute between Louttit and Pike over Luci Nugent's conversion to Catholicism centers on interpretations of remarks Pike made July 4, 1965. Pike criticized the rebaptizing of the President's daughter, saying her baptism in the Episcopal Church should have been recognized by the Roman Catholic Church.

Bishop Louttit,, contacted at Orlando, Fla., by the Greensboro Record, declined comment on Pike's demand for a public

Five May Quit as Ministers

Mac Tours Areas, Force Now 325,000

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara toured quieted battle sectors of South Viet Nam today as 4,000 fresh American combat troops arrived in the country.

The new troops, the last contingent of the 4th Infantry Division, brought the American force in Viet Nam to 325,000 men.

Only Small Skirmishes

As the buildup continued ground fighting subsided into small skirmishes. But on the political front dissension flared between northerners and southerns in Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's cabinet. Five civilian ministers from the Mekong Delta were reported threatening to resign.

The 4,000 fresh American combat troops, comprising the "Ivy" Division's 3rd Brigade, began coming ashore from a troopship at Vung Tau, 40 miles southeast of Saigon. Their arrival brought the division to full strength, making it the fourth complete U.S. Army division in Viet Nam.

In addition to the 325,000 American soldiers in Viet Nam, there are nearly 42,000 troops from five other allied nations and some 705,000 South Vietnamese under arms.

May Hit 400,000 by 1967

U.S. strength is expected to reach between 370,000 and 400,000 men by the end of this year.

McNamara, after two days of military briefings in Saigon, flew to Phu Cat, the base in the central coastlands for the U.S. 1st Cavalry's Operation Irving, which has given the allies the war's biggest bag of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong prisoners.

Visits Da Nang Base

McNamara also visited an evacuation hospital at Qui Nhon, then flew to the big Marine base at Da Nang and took another plane to the aircraft carrier Oriskany off the coast of North Viet Nam. He planned to spend the night on the carrier and resume his tour of ground installations Thursday.

From the Oriskany and two other American carriers in the South China Sea, U.S. Navy pilots flew 72 bombing missions Tuesday over North Viet Nam while Air Force and Marine pilots flew 66

The American pilots flew through poor weather against targets in the Haiphong and Hanoi areas and in the southern panhandle. Pilots claimed damage or destruction to 74 cargo barges, 11 bridges, 28 buildings, 10 trucks and six boxcars.

U.S. fliers also hit the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam with 12 bombing missions Tuesday. They reported setting off 15 secondary explosions in strikes against oil

Disclose Basic Plans For Old-Age Pay Hike

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — President Johnson outlined today a broad blueprint for at least $2.2 billion of increases in Social Security pensions. Under his proposal, the average pensioner would get an additional $8.50 or more a month.

The President said he wants Congress to approve average benefit increases of at least 10 per cent And he proposed minimum monthly checks of $100, compared with the present $44.

Some Charge Politics

Some Republicans, noting that Johnson made his pronouncement less than a month before the Nov 8 election, accused him of playing politics. But many Congress members from both parties said Social Security benefits should be expanded.

None of the hikes would take effect until Jan. 1, 1968 — another election year.

Johnson sketched out his proposals — details will go to Congress in January — at a Social Security awards ceremony here. The federal pension program, which ships monthly checks to 22 million Americans, has its headquarters in Baltimore.

Maryland's largest city was the first stop on a two-day presidential tour that will have avowedly political aspects.

Johnson was bound for New York City and the annual Columbus Day parade — plus some speechmaking urged upon him by Frank O'Connor, the Democratic candidate for governor, and Democratic House members seeking re-election.

Will Rule Friday On Sheppard Bid For Venue Change

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — After an 11-minute hearing, Judge Francis J. Talty said today he would rule at 11 a.m. Friday on a defense motion to move Samuel H. Sheppard's murder retrial out of Cleveland.

Scrapbooks Introduced

During the brief hearing which started late, F. Lee Bailey of Boston, Sheppard's chief counsel, introduced for evidence five scrapbooks of newspaper clippings and four issues of the Cleveland Press.

The scrapbooks covered the period from July 1954, when Sheppard's first wife, Marilyn, was killed, through December, when the former osteopath was convicted by a jury of second-degree murder.

The four newspapers were issues of Jan. 4, 5, 6 and 7 of this year.

Bailey said he offered his exhibits to show the exposure of

Chicago Price Cuts Delight Housewives; 10-20 PC Slash

CHICAGO (AP) — Major supermarket food chains in the greater Chicago area are engaged in price-cutting, and housewives think it's just wonderful.

Jewel Tea Co., which operates supermarkets in five Midwestern states, started lowering prices on nonperishable items in late September and the other food chains quickly followed.

Jewel advertised reductions in prices of 2,327 items, calling them new low "miracle prices."

Harry Beckner, vice president and general manager of Jewel, wouldn't call it a price war, saying: "We are simply offering customers a choice of what they will pay for staple items. We feel it is our responsibility to make this choice available to them."

Lucy Sets Sights On World Travel For TV Series

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Lucille Ball, the television star and corporation president has a new enthusiasm — travel.

"In fact," said the red-haired actress, "if this should be my last year in the series, what I'd really like to do next is a few specials a year, made in varius places all over the world, that showed them through my eyes."

The idea has been running through her mind for some time but it all fell together last May when she went to England and shot "Lucy in London" in 10 days.

The comedienne is spending a week in New York, drumming up interest in her special, to be seen on CBS Oct. 24, but also looking at the East's brilliant foliage, taking in a few Broadway shows and, doubtless, talking Desilu business with network heads.

"I always like to go some place special in May, just as I like to come to New York now," she said, "First I thought it would be fun to make a show in Paris, but we couldn't get Zero Mostel and another star we wanted for it. So I said let's go to England and do something there instead."

What the "something" finally amounted to is a day in London — "and it covers all the things I'd want to do there myself as a tourist, and believe me, there's a lot of Lucille Ball in Lucy Carmichael."

She appeared genuinely unconcerned that a new series, "Rat Patrol," which is part of her own series' Monday night competition, had outpointed "The Lucy Show" in the new Nielsen ratings.

"Good luck to them," she said. "I've had 15 good years in television and surely there's room for plenty of shows. I hope they do well — as long as my shows stays in the top 10 too, which it did."

To Probe Near Crash Of 2 Planes at Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)— The Federal Aviation Agency says an investigation is under way into a near air collision over the Buffalo Airport of a jet passenger liner with 73 persons aboard and a propeller - driven aircraft carrying two race horses.

"We are making a thorough check of all facts and will make up a complete report that will be forwarded to FAA headquarters in Boston, Mass. for final analysis," Clinton P. Alt, FAA specialist in charge of the control tower at the airport, said Tuesday.

The incident occurred Monday and involved an American Airlines jet carrying 69 passengers and a crew of four and a C46 cargo plane owned by Zantop Air Transport Inc., Detroit.

An American Airlines spokes man said in New York the collision was avoided by the quick evasive action of copilot Capt. David Bengston. The airliner was enroute to LaGuardia Airport in New York.

The cargo plane took off from the Buffalo airport enroute to Montreal with Capt. William Stewart at the controls.

The passenger liner, under the command of Capt. Robert Salmon, took off one minute later, the FAA said.

Although Salmon was at the controls, it was Bengston who first sighted the cargo plane heading on a collision course with his aircraft at about 1,000 feet altitude, the American Airlines spokesman said.

Bengston dropped the nose of the plane allowing it to pass under the cargo plane, he added.

Explores Upturn of Fortune For TV and Film Scenarists

EDITOR'S NOTE — The screen writer, once low man on the totem pole in Hollywood's hierarchy, in recent years has become a key figure in the moviemaking process, earning huge sums, acquiring prestige. But many still are unhappy. AP columnist Bob Thomas explores the upturn of fortune for scenarists in a three-part series. The first follows.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jobs are plentiful and he is earning a bigger salary than ever before. The prestige of his profession is rising, but not fast enough to please him. For that reason and because of the conditions under which he must write, he is unhappy.

That is the state of the American film writer in 1966. More money is being paid to writers than at any time in history. During the seasonal high of May, all but a hundred of the 1,172 active members of the Writers Guild of America, West, were employed — 906 in television and 166 in feature movies. That compared with 516 in 1962 and 363 in 1956.

Total earnings for Guild members — 12 per cent are women — in the last fiscal year were $31.7 million — $19.2 million from television and $12.5 million from movies. The total five years ago was $22.3 million.

A topflight television writer can turn out a dozen scripts a year at an average $4,500 fee each. The best movie writers may earn from $100,000 to $250,000 per script.

Writers are being accorded more entree to the production councils of Hollywood. Some, like Stanley Shapiro — "Pillow Talk" — and Ernest Lehman — "The Sound of Music" — produce their own scripts. Others follow the examples of Richard Brooks — "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" — and Joseph Mankiewicz — "All About Eve" — and turn director.

Once Hollywood devoutly believed that glamorous stars and glossy production were all it took for a successful film. But public tastes changed. Now there is general acceptance of the notion that a sound story is indispensable.

Nowadays most stars won't commit themselves "until I see the script." Writers have joined the filmdom elite.

Television has brought forth a new breed of writer-producers, men like David Dortort — "Bonanza" — Leonard Stern — "Get Smart" — and Paul Hennings — "Beverly Hillbillies" — who conceive and oversee series packages.

Despite his added prestige and the fact that he can earn more money with one script than Shakespeare saw in a lifetime, the film writer is beset with frustrations.

He often sees his best scenes mangled or misinterpreted by the director. "It still happens," says Billy Wilder — "Some Like It Hot" — "that the director will rewrite the script after a long conference with his wife." Unlike playwrights, the screen writer has no control over such editing.

"Films are a director's medium, and for reasonable and valid reasons," remarks Rod Serling — "Seven Days, in May."

"In films you are dealing with material that is only half-alive until the visual aspect is added," he said.

"The trouble is that the writer is the last man on the pole when the visual aspect is added. The producer, director and actor give their perspective, but seldom the writer. Yet he has conceived the project and has spent the most time on it."

Ray Bradbury — "Moby Dick" — cites another frustration: "I'd guess that only every fourth screen play is produced. The screen writer whose script is never made feels as if he has given birth to a baby, then, as he is leaving the hospital, someone grabs it and kills it."

Television writers rankle under the formulas of weekly series. "I don't feel the sense of challenge in TV any more," comments pioneer Serling. "The ground rules are laid down for each show. Television is like a massive magazine, with everything departmentalized."

A movie writer makes this observation of status in Hollywood: "When a studio has a big premiere, they send a limousine for the director. The writer? He has to drive his own car."

Edward Anhalt — "Becket" — has offered another yardstick on status: "Unless the studio thinks enough of the writer to give him an office with a private toilet and his own parking space, he hasn't arrived." Most writers are given neither.

A convergence of two or more film writers very often results in a gripe session over just such matters. But is this because of their working conditions — or because they are writers?

"If they were happy, they wouldn't be writers," argues George Axelrod — "The Seven Year Itch."

Billy Wilder agrees. "I can assure you that Dostoevski was much more miserable than any writer who is working for producer Al Zugsmith."

Wing Hurt, Takes Plane

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Canus, the whooping crane, flew to a Maryland wildlife preserve recently, but went by plane.

The whooper is one of only about 56 left in the world. Recently, a wing was amputated at a U.S. Wildlife Service station near here following an accident.

The bird was placed in the cargo hold of an airliner and sent to the endangered species station the service operates at Laurel, Md.

COLUMBUS TOLD US

Christopher Columbus' trip of discovery which Americans celebrate annually must surely go down in history as one of the greatest bargains of all time. Columbus opened up a new world for the equivalent of about $14,000.

There are other historic land acquisitions that have far oushone their original costs. All the rest pale, however, beside the era of exploration, expansion and development that was launched by Columbus' trip in search of a sea route around the world to the Orient.

Christopher Columbus sailed at the right time in history. The world seemed to have settled on dead center in 1492. Learned men were pessimistic about the future. The discovery of the New World provided the inspiration needed to spark the imagination and enflame the spirit. The explorations that began then have continued in one form or another until the present day.

Columbus paid his own high price for his discovery and his place in history. He endured hardships, ill health and a fall from official grace when gold did not materialize in the New World in the expected quantities.

It is reported that in the latter years of his life he became a man with a one track mind and a tendency to say "I told you so" to any one who would listen. In a way it is sad to hear this about the great visionary. Yet we cannot think of a single figure in history who had a better right to say it. He did tell us so, and because of it we are here today, and we salute him.

PROTECT YOUR VOTE

Friday and Saturday of this week are the final days of registration for the general election November 8. Eligible voters in the City of Kingston who fail to register on either of these days will not be able to vote in this very important general election.

The polls in the thirteen wards of the city will be open on Friday from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. and on Saturday from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m.

In Ulster County communities outside the City of Kingston where there is non-personal registration, the polls will be open Saturday from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m. In these areas, voters should check registration rolls if they have not voted in a general election in their polling place within the last four years. New residents also should check to make sure their names are registered.

First voters who meet the qualifications—21 years of age, a resident of the state one year, the county four months and the election district 30 days—must prove ability to read and write by submitting a certificate or diploma from grade, high school or college or fill out an affidavit that you have finished the eighth grade.

In this year's general election, county, state and national offices will be filled and delegates will be named to the Constitutional Convention. Twelve state-wide questions also will appear on the ballot for decision by the voters.

The offices are coroner and clerk on the county level, governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, comptroller, senator and assemblyman in state-wide voting and congressman in this district.

The right of voting is one of the great privileges and responsibilities of American citizenship, a voice given to everyone without question of his religion, his color or his means. This and other privileges of citizenship are wasted on people who do not vote.

But you should remember that you will not be able to vote unless you register this weekend.

ELECTRICS ON THE WAY

The Ford Motor Company is engaged in gradual revelation of its plans for mass production of an electric automobile. Though it is spearheading this development so far as the American automotive world is concerned, other Detroit firms are expected to come out with entries in the field before long.

This is not to say that the electric car is just around the corner. What Ford predicts is that it will be producing such vehicles commercially within the next decade. There is some reason for thinking, however, that this may be a conservative estimate. Although the manufacturers have been experimenting with the idea of a practical battery-operated automobile for some years, a brisk new impetus has been provided by the growing problem of exhaust pollution in the cities.

The move to perfect an electric car is especially intriguing because it recalls a time when many a little old lday tooled about in such a vehicle, complete with rosebuds in vases to left and right of the driver. Who knows, this development may also portend a revival of the bud vase industry!

THE END OF THE FULBRIGHT MONOLOGUE

There used to be two Democratic voices in the U.S. Senate on the subject of foreign policy. One was the voice of Bill Fulbright; the other was the voice of Tom Dodd. And the result was a dialogue, to make a true use of that much-abused and generally phony descriptive phrase that is beloved of the liberal cliche-makers.

In recent months, however, the dialogue has given way to a monologue, with Bill Fulbright commanding practically all the headlines. The note that goes out from the U.S. Senate to foreign countries is almost wholly limited to the refrain of "let's not be beastly to the Communists. Just show some magnanimity toward them and we'll soon have a world peace and good will toward men."

The reason for this state of affairs is generally ascribed to Tom Dodd's troubles in combatting the charges that he had failed to report certain campaign contributions as income that should be taxed and that he had misused his position as a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to help lobbyist Julius Klein hang on to his West German industrialist clients. The latter charge has fallen flat, but the first still hangs over Dodd's head. No doubt the effort to defend himself against the various allegations has used up a great part of Tom Dodd's time. But the unreported fact is that Dodd has been in no fit physical condition to make his usual response to crucial questions involving foreign policy. What energies he had could not be devoted to his old role of acting as Administration spokesman on the Dominican Republic and Vietnam.

Whatever the reasons for his depressed state may have been, they exist no longer. For Dodd's recent speech to the West Germans at a conference in Wiesbaden was full of the old fire and vigor, a challange to everything that Bill Fulbright has been saying on the subject of U.S. foreign policy. It served notice on the world in general, and the Senate in particular ,that the monologue of the past few months is about to become a dialogue again.

Dodd's business in Wiesbaden, where he spoke under the joint auspices of the West German Institute for the Study of East and Middle European Partnership and the Foundation for Foreign Affairs of Chicago, was to reassure the Europeans that the U.S. was not so committed in Vietnam that it could not react in time to crises in Europe. Even with 300,000 men in Vietnam, he informed the Germans, "there are actually more men available to meet our other international commitments than there were before we embarked on the major Vietnam buildup." Our armed forces have risen from 2.6 to 3.1 million in a little over a year. Dodd told the Germans, in effect, not to listen to the Vietniks who have been busy spreading the impression that the U.S. will soon tire of its Asian commitments. "There is absolutely no chance," he said, "that President Johnson will capitulate before the domestic opposition and abandon the people of South Vietnam."

The Dodd speech dealt with a variety of topics in a most candid way. He denied the reports that America was prepared to sacrifice NATO in return for a non-proliferation treaty that would deny nuclear weapon development to our friends without binding the hand of the Red Chinese, Nasser or even India. He spoke of "American doubts about Europe," warning his listeners that the appearance of Soviet good intentions along the fault line of the old Iron Curtain should not delude them. People in the U.S., he said, "have a different view of Soviet intentions bcause of the commanding role which Moscow played in the so-called Tri-Continental Conference in Havana last January."

All in all, the Wiesbaden speech was Dodd in his old and powerful vein. The fact that he could deliver it can be taken as evidence that he now feels he is on top of things insofar as defending himself against the charges made against him. It is also evidence that he has recovered his old energies, which, as a matter of medical record, had been drained by the destruction of potassium in his system that came as a side effect from a medicine used to counteract high blood pressure. Now that he has overcome his physical troubles, Dodd is raring to go. The days of the Fulbright monologue are over.

Treat Phlebitis Promptly To Prevent Disability

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Phlebitis (and closely related thrombophlebitis) is a common but widely misunderstood disease. Essentially, it is an inflammation of a vein, usually in the leg. It may be caused by infection or by slowing of the circulation through the affected vein in persons who are confined to bed for more than a few days. Much disability from phlebitis has been prevented in recent years by getting patients out of bed within a day or two after most operations.

The inflamed vein is tender to touch and the leg is usually swollen. This acute stage subsides in eight to 10 days. It may be followed by complete recovery or by some degree of venous obstruction or varicosity.

As with most diseases, prompt treatment at the onset prevents later complications. A treatment that has saved many persons from surgery is an infusion into the vein of dextran. To give the best results, this must be started within eight hours of the onset. Some doctors give an anticoagulant at the same time but it is not needed if the dextran treatment is started soon enough.

During the acute stage, bed rest for a few days with bathroom privilege is sometimes prescribed. Alternating hot and cold compresses over the tender vein helps to reduce the inflammation. Progressive doctors wrap the leg above the tender area with a 4-inch elastic-weave roller bandage and get the patient out of bed at once. At night the foot of the bed should be elevated about seven inches.

If the swelling persists after eight to 10 days of this treatment, some victims prefer to wear an elastic stocking rather than the bandage. It is often necessary to continue elevating the foot of the bed and using some form of elastic support for 10 or 12 months. Swimming or walking in water are the best forms of exercise.

Finally, for the prevention of this disease, if you ever have to be confined to bed for more than nine hours, you should lie on your back and "ride a bicycle" several times a day. If you can't do anything else, wiggle your toes early and often.

Washington Correspondent

SAIGON (NEA) — Viet Cong sources say their leadership has become worried over the silent antagonism of the small middle-class farmer in many areas.

These middle-class farmers are the backbone of Viet Nam. This is the class out of which the Communists have in the past secured their most able cadres. Mao Tse-tung came out of this class in China. So did many of the old hierarchy. It is out of this class that most of the new young leaders of the Communist party must come in the future.

If the Communist party fails to solve this problem of antagonism, the Viet Cong could eventually wither away for lack of upcoming, vigorous, able leadership.

It's not only for party leadership but also for local economic leadership that the Communists must depend on the middle-class farmer group. Without their leadership, control goes completely into the hands of the Chinese merchant.

In part, the Communists have been victims of their own propaganda. They shouted about the wickedness of all landlords so loudly that local party cells went whole hog and attacked the middle class along with the "rich" farmers.

To the best of their ability, the Viet Cong have driven out the "rich" peasants. They have done this in part by terrorizing him and his family. In some places they have levied taxes on him which are greater than the value of his crops. Because he has been terrorized or cannot pay his taxes, he runs away. The Communists then take over these "abandoned" farms and either divide them or rent them out.

The Viet Cong so far have been quite successful in many places with the very poor peasants. They have succeeded in part by confiscating land from the rich and distributing it to the poor at no cost to themselves.

Though in many places they have since raised taxes to high levels, they have convinced many of these poor farmers that if the government comes back they will lose their land. By constant reiteration they have sold them on the idea that it's better to pay high taxes and "own" the land than it is to have no land at all.

When the poor farmer has doubts, the Communists tell him to go look at the national government's official land books. He will see there that his land is still officially in the hands of absentee landlords and others.

He is told that if he is to keep his land, therefore, he must fight the government that "wants to" take it away from him. He doesn't know what happens to poor farmers when a country is completely Communist, as in Red China or North Korea.

But in many places the VC have already alienated the middle-class farmer. The order from above was not to destroy him, but to take away from him only what he and his family could not farm themselves. In practice, local Communist cadres often treated him as they did the "rich" farmer.

As one Communist administrator of three provinces puts it in a report to his superiors:

"Our actions have frightened the middle-class peasant and he has become unproductive . . While before it had been easy to mobilize the middle-class peasants to take part in the direct struggle and an average of 300 per villagers participated in every operation, it is now difficult to mobilize even 50 men."

In rural Viet Nam, the poor farmer traditionally was carried along in bad years and between crops by his landlord — often a small middle-class peasant who owned little land and farmed some and rented out a piece or two. The landlords charged very high rates, but the farmer at least had someone to carry him.

Now, a Viet Cong official reports, "The middle-class peasants no longer lend money to the poor. The poor farmer has become angry with us because he could not borrow money to buy a paddy for planting his crops."

Sino-Soviet Rivalry Could Be Reason for Moscow Shift

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — A seeming Soviet willingness to do business with the United States may be due in part to Red China's setbacks in the struggle for leadership of the Communist world.

This opinion comes from some U.S. diplomats after four exploratory sessions with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko — three with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Gromyko's call on President Johnson.

A year ago Gromyko stayed away from Washington, though he was in New York for the U.N. General Assembly opening. U.S. forces were then going into Viet Nam in a big way, and a seemingly potent Peking was accusing the Soviet Union of conniving with the "imperialist" enemy.

Abandons Some Objections

This fall Gromyko agreed to final talks aimed at starting direct U.S.-Soviet commercial air service, he abandoned some earlier objections to a treaty to preserve outer space for peaceful use and he showed interest in a pact to outlaw the spread of nuclear weapons.

U.S. Kremlinologists who see in this a warming-up of U.S.-Soviet relations are inclined to give some credit to Mao Tse-tung — for the Chinese leader's Red Guard rampage which has tumbled Peking's prestige inside as well as outside of the Communist camp.

According to this theory, Moscow has forged so far ahead in the Sino-Soviet rivalry that the Kremlin can shrug off China's charges and feel free to pursue its own foreign policy ends.

There is another school of thought among Washington experts which fails to find any marked improvement in Moscow-Washington relations at this time.

Smile May Turn to Frown

They say the Kremlin leadership has kept the door open right along for East-West accords which might suit the Soviets. They note Gromyko continued to brand America as the aggressor in Viet Nam, voice support for Hanoi and rebuff peace approaches.

This analysis sees Kremlin policy as partly harsh, partly accommodating toward the West, and pragmatic in dealing with any specific item. So what looks like a smile from Moscow today on one issue could turn to a frown tomorrow on another.

But the differing interpretations do come to one common conclusion: That a wide gulf still separates Washington from Moscow and bridging it will not be easy.

The humor of the situation escapes me. My wife bought a book. It is called "The Awful Handyman's Book" and I do not see why the presentation should bring on laughter until tears stood on her lids. If she knew how funny she looks with her features distorted, she wouldn't do it.

As a mecanical wizard, I will admit that I'm not earth-shaking, but I do know the simple truths about a house—like if you turn the faucet to the right, water comes out; turn it to the left and it stops. Or is it the other way? Just a moment, please...

Yeah. Right is on; left is off. Of one thing you may be sure, I will not read the book. It's insulting. Years ago, I did about every small job around the house. No one taught me. By nature, I am a simple stubborn peasant who would rather evolve his own methods than listen to advice.

Obviously, my wife is trying to make me look stupid. This is another field of endeavor in which I am superior to her. They are countless. She even flunked on stuck zippers. And who had the brains to call the plumber and the fire department the morning of the cellar flood?

Kelly said: "There's water in the cellar." So I went below and found a half inch of rain water. Dew, practically. It was all in one half of the basement, and was held from going down the drain by a small ridge of concrete which ran across the room. I did the proper thing: gat a hatchet and chopped a V in the ridge to permit the water to flow through

It is not my fault that the builder forgot to announce that the fuel pipe to the oil burner was buried in it. The oil squirted out and 200 gallons gushed all over the cellar. She lost her head and moaned: "One spark and we'll all blow up." Did I panic? No sir. I got some glue and wood-fill and jammed it into the break.

Unfortunately, the stuff flew up in my face. One of the mechanical situations in which I am peerless is dialing a phone. So I dialed. In four minutes, we had the fire department; two days later, the plumber arrived.

Any home owner would have done the same thing. Very few women can understand logic. Another time the elbow joint under the sink was leaking. Kelly wanted to call a plumber. For goodness' sake, what for? Just go to the hardware store and get some grease cutter and pour it in.

Would anyone suspect that it would eat through the pipe? They must be making those joints out of cardboard. The fuse blew out because she had the refrigerator, the electric stove, and the washing machine all going at once. I fixed it. I put a heavier fuse in and it worked until I saw smoke coming out of the wires.

A typical hysterical woman. Blows up like a six-inch salute. Who made the modernistic coffee table? Who slaved over it with sandpaper until it gleamed? Who varnished it until four coats were on? You know who. The slave. By an infinitesimal calculation, the thing tilted a tiny bit. Not much: an inch and a half or maybe two.

Should we throw the table out? No, sir. It reposed in the living room. The mistake was not in the table, but in inviting free-loading relatives to the house. They sat their drinks on the high side, and watched the glasses slide down and off onto the rug. Funn-eeeee.

I make no pretensions to perfection. With the years, I have learned. No longer do I mash a finger when I hammer a nail. I order one of my daughters to hold it. Oh, they cry a little, but girls haven't got the nerve God gave to a rabbit. I just let them whimper, and then I swing the hammer. Sometimes it gets them off from school. They should be on their knees thanking me.

Kelly lacks faith. She reminded me that when I took a high school aptitude test a few years ago, the teacher—one of those sneaks with a neutral smile—handed me three pieces of mahogany 18 inches long. They had each been cut on a bias. The object was to fit them together so that they formed a perfect oblong. Any idiot can do it.

So, 28 minutes later, teach got nervous and snatched the pieces of wood away from me. I almost had it. He said that the average backward high school boy requires 45 seconds. Absurd. He's jealous because I write for a living and he has to walk around toting pieces of wood.

"The Awful Handyman's Book" indeed. Even the chapter headings are a base canard. "You Can Fix Electrical Things and Live"; "How to Fix Appliances Without Wrecking Them"; "How to Fix a Car Without Knowing How"; "How to Hang Things on Walls."

I know someone I'm going to hang on the wall...

hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Have you, or any of your readers, ever had the misfortune to pull out a drawer too far and have the contents spill all over the floor?

Drill a small one-eighth-inch hole (as near the back as possible in the bottom of the drawer panel and start putting the drawer back in place. After the hole has cleared the front of the cabinet, insert a short nail, screw or bolt in the hole and push the drawer closed.

When you open the drawer again, it cannot come all the way out. The nail will bump the inside face of the cabinet and stop the drawer motion.

To remove the drawer for cleaning or some other reason, simply pull the nail out of the hole, and the drawer will come out.

Gordon L. Gallagher

Hurray for this helpful hint!

Not only have I pulled drawers out too far and had the contents spill all over the floor . . . but the drawer usually whacked me on the shin before landing on my foot!

Best of all, small children will be much safer around these drawers.

Thank you kindly, Mr. Gallagher.

Dear Heloise:

To keep my flannel-backed plastic tablecloth from slipping around on the table, and to have a table pad also, I took a sheet blanket and cut it to fit the table, leaving it six inches wider on the sides.

I made a small hem around its edge and ran elastic through it. Now the padding fits like a fitted sheet, can be taken off to wash, and is easily put back on.

And my tablecloth stays in position and looks nice, too.

Arley Cross

Dear Heloise:

When painting the woodwork, I use a sour cream or cottage cheese plastic container to hold the paint.

Great to carry along as you move from one place to another without having a heavy, clumsy gallon can to lug around.

After painting, just pour leftover paint back into the gallon can and toss out the small carton.

Dear Heloise:

I hope my discovery of a new use for hair spray will help someone else.

I always carry a tiny container of aerosol hair spray in my purse when I go out.

One night when we went to dinner and a show—I discovered a run in one of my stockings.

I went to the powder room and thoroughly sprayed the top and bottom of the run with the hair spray.

The spray did not show and the run did not go any further.

Donna J. Sylvia

And you'd better believe it, it works! Even at home, hair spray that contains lacquer is better to use on a run than clear nail polish because it doesn't make the nylon stick to your leg!

Dear Heloise:

Here is a hint I thought of when I cut my finger:

Use a portion (finger or whatever you need) of an old rubber glove to cover the area on your hand AFTER bandaging the cut.

If you don't have that, use a piece of plastic wrap and tape it to hold it in place.

Wonderful while working, bathing or washing hands to keep bandage clean and dry temporarily. Of course, I remove the cover afterwards so air can get to the cut and speed up the healing.

Report Flareup Of Gang Warfare In Chicago Sector

CHICAGO (AP) — A sniper's bullet grazed a policeman's head and a 15-year-old boy was shot in the stomach Tuesday night in what police called another flareup of gang warfare.

Police moved in force to bar any spread of the violence that began when roving street gangs threw bricks at police cars in an all-Negro South Side neighborhood just south of the University of Chicago.

More than 6 youths, many known to police as gang members, were arrested in a series of incidents punctuated by gunfire. Police said they seized three fire bombs from one of the youths.

Policeman Edward Carmody, 38, who is white, said the side of his head was grazed by a bullet which shattered the rear window of his squad car. He and his partner were rushing to the aid of other policemen who had said they were under fire or being hit by bricks and bottles.

Carmody received first aid at Billings Hospital and was released.

Minutes later police found Walter Stewart, a Negro high school student, sprawled on a sidewalk. He had been shot in the stomach. Stewart was hospitalized in fair condition.

William Griffin, police commander in the area, said crowds gathered when a policeman tried to question six youths in a parked car at 63rd Street and Harper Avenue.

Many of those arrested were identified as members of the Blackstone Rangers, a Negro street gang.

Dear Abby . . .

'Phone Thank You' Meaningful, Too!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend and I were secretly married by a judge last year while we were college seniors. Now we are graduated and my parents want to give me a church wedding. My being an only child it would mean a lot to them. We live in a small town and with my own ears I have heard our pastor tell things he had no business telling.

Do I have to tell him we were married before? He would surely tell someone and it would get back to my folks, and I hate to have them hurt. Also, is it legal to have two marriage licenses on file without a divorce in between?

MUST KNOW

DEAR MUST: First, find a lawyer in your town who talks less than your pastor. (This should be easy.) Ask him about the legality of two marriage licenses. And I advise you to tell your pastor about the previous ceremony.

But tell your parents first. Since it was only a civil ceremony, they will want you to have a religious ceremony as well.

DEAR ABBY: Over the year I have sent many greeting, anniversary, birthday, get-well, and sympathy cards. And Abby, I am not lying when I say that out of the 52 cards sent last year, only three people have had the courtesy to thank me. Aren't people supposed to say "thank you" for being remembered with a card? Should I just save the price of these cards, my postage, and my time?

IGNORED

DEAR IGNORED: People of breeding still telephone their thanks, or drop a note in response to a greeting card. If you enjoy remembering people with cards, continue to do so, but if the rudeness of some have soured you for all, call a halt.

DEAR ABBY: My son passed away suddenly a year ago. He was only in his twenties and left a widow and two small children, 1-year-old and 2 years old. The day after my son was buried, my daughter-in-law got rid of every stitch of clothing he owned, took down their wedding picture and put away his pipes, and everything that was his.

She said that way the children wouldn't ask questions about where their father was. My son was a good husband and father and he loved those children. She never visits us. If we want to see our grandchildren we have to go there. This has been on my mind so long I just can't stand it. Please help me.

HEART-BROKEN

DEAR HEART-BROKEN: Your daughter-in-law could have been understandably distraught and befuddled when she removed all reminders of her husband, but as time heals the hurt, she should realize that the children should know something of their father. Until and unless she changes, it will be up to you to visit yould grandchildren and to preserve the memory of your son.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HUMILIATED HOST" IN BIG SPRINGS, TEXAS: Don't invite him again. It is just as ill-bred and hoggish for a man to monopolize the conversation all evening as it is for a guest to eat all the food at the dinner table.

Resnick Says Birchers Help GOP Treasury

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., says the treasury of the Republican Boosters Club has been tainted by contributions from supporters of the John Birch Society.

Resnick said that club-members contribute $1,000 each to help finance Republican congressional campaigns and added that his opponent in this year's election, Hamilton Fish Jr., had received $5,000 in support from the club.

Such recipients, the Ellenville Democrat said, are "beholden" to the Boosters Club, and "substanial sums" are contributed to the club by supporters of the Society.

Resnick said he spoke out on the Boosters Club in view of recent Republican criticism against the President's Club, which also carried a $1,000 membership tag.

"People who live in glass reputations shouldn't throw stones," he asserted.

Couple to Mark Anniversary, Married 77 Years

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Bertha Lowe was 16 and Oliver Bunting was 19 when they stood before a justice of the peace at midnight to become husband and wife.

Today, Bertha and Oliver observed their 77th wedding anniversary.

They chose midnight for their marriage, they said, because it came at the end of Bertha's birthday celebration and the start of Oliver's. She turned 93 Tuesday and he reached 96 today.

The Buntings were married in Walkerville, Mich., where Bunting was a country school teacher. In 1897, two years after the wedding, the couple moved to this western New York city where Bunting taught school for five years.

He then joined the advertising staff of the former Jamestown Morning Post. He retired in 1946 as display advertising manager of the Jamestown Post-Journal.

The Buntings planned no celebration of their anniversary since Bunting, in ill health, spends much of his time in bed.

The Buntings are parents of two daughters, Mrs. Hugh Button and Mrs Gertha Carlson, both of Jamestown. The couple had four grandchildren, 12 great grandchildren and four great-great grandchildren.

They live at 21 Kenmore Ave.

Wilson Offers Data On Vote Questions

Today Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County released the fifth in a series of informational articles on the 12 state-wide questions which will be appearing on the ballot this November, and in the article he set forth the details of the controversial seventh amendment to the State Constitution which would allow the State to institute some form of state-wide lottery to raise funds for educational purposes.

The Ulster County Assemblyman said the "Lottery Amendment" has become one of the most widely discussed matters on the ballot this year, and that many local and State-wide groups have taken a very definite stand against the matter. Wilson explained the amendment in itself would not create a lottery, but it would remove the present constitutional prohibition against any state operated lottery, provided that the funds derived from such a lottery be used exclusively for educational purposes.

The Assemblyman went on to say that if the amendment is approved by the voters, it would still be the task of the Legislature to determine if a State-operated lottery would actually be established, and how it would be operated. According to Assemblyman Wilson, there are no present guidelines on how funds from a State lottery would be used for "educational purposes," and again it would be the responsibility of the Legislature to determine exactly how the money would be allocated for these purposes.

Assemblyman Wilson also cited the fact that Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller, as well as many civic, educational, and religious groups throughout the State have voiced their opposition to the establishment of a State lottery on both economic and moral grounds, and have pointed out that lotteries are one of the most regressive forms of raising public funds since they take money largely from those who can least afford it. Wilson added that he hoped every voter in the county would give the lottery very serious thought before casting his vote, and he added this will be one of those rare opportunities in which the public will have a personal voice on such a clear-cut and basic moral issue.

Lindsay to Huddle With Senators on Civilian Board

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay and Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., hold a summit strategy meeting today to plan a campaign in support of the civilian dominated police review board

The meeting, originally set for Saturday, was postponed because of "scheduling problems."

Controversy broke out over the conference last week when a spokesman for the Republican mayor said Lindsay, before agreeing to go ahead with the talks, wanted to see whether Javits would "physically produce Sen. Kennedy."

The comment irritated Kennedy who replied he would attend "when and if" City Hall learned better manners. Lindsay later apologized, saying he had been misunderstood.

The mayor made a surprise plea Tuesday to more than 300 policemen to join him in assuring New Yorkers that the board would not hamstring the department.

Lindsay was warmly applauded by the audience at Police Academy promotion ceremonies.

"I come before you to ask you to join with me in making clear to the citizens of New York that they can enter the polling booths on November 8 without fear in their minds and hearts," he said.

The Patrolmen's Benevolent Association is sponsoring a referendum to abolish the board, contending it is harmful to effective law enforcement.

To Sell Mortgage Bonds

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. has permission to sell $45 million in general mortgage bonds to help pay for construction of additional facilities.

The State Public Service Commission granted the company permission Tuesday but reserved the right to rescind its approval if terms proposed by the buyers are not satisfactory.

The utility firm's construction program this year will cost about $95 million, the PSC said.

OVERLOOK CHURCH PROGRESS — The new Overlook Methodist Church of Woodstock is rising rapidly on Route 212 in Bearsville, almost directly opposite the Woodstock Lanes bowling alleys. Workmen have been taking advantage of Indian Summer days to make strides in placing attractive stone blocks along one end of the building and across a front corner. Even against the backdrop of the mountains, the new church looks enormous; will offer far more room than the present church on Tinker Street in the village. It has been only brief months since ground breaking ceremonies took place at the site and, if construction continues at the present pace, the congregation should be in its new quarters in the not-too-distant future. ## Tickets Selling Fast for Dinner For Hoffmanns

For the past 16 years, and up until a few short months ago, the residents of Woodstock — whether they were aware of it or not—owed a debt of gratitude to Charles and Marie Hoffmann, of Tinker Street. This husband-and-wife team, quietly and selflessly, performed an all-important community service for more than a decade and a half.

When the Town of Woodstock made the change from the operator to dial telephone system, it became necessary to have someone answer all night fire calls. The Hoffmanns offered voluntarily to take over this heavy responsibility; asked no payment of any kind in return. Their offer was accepted with thanks and, in the intervening years, this local couple cooperated cheerfully at all times with the fire company here.

Some months ago, they asked if other arrangements could be made, promising to continue their community service until others could be found to take over. With the installation of a new Plectron alarm system in the area and the hiring of 24-hour around-the-clock fire dispatchers, the Hoffmanns were relieved of their long-term duties.

To honor them for their years of cooperation, members of Woodstock's four fire companies are sponsoring a testimonial dinner for the Hoffmanns as a smal token of the esteem in which they are held locally and in gratitude for their past help.

The dinner will be held at Deanie's Restaurant on Saturday, Oct. 29, at 7:30 p. m. Tickets for the testimonial affair may be obtained from George Haythorne, Richard Mellert and Raymond Cocks. All residents of the community who wish to join in this tribute to these two wonderful people are advised to get their tickets early as a large attendance is anticipated.

World's first passenger elevator was installed in a New York store by Elisha Otis in 1857.

Set Book Fair At R.R. Bennett

Have you started your Christmas shopping yet? Are you trying to decide what type of gift to buy for that next birthday? Why not give books this year? Why not treat that "someone special" to adventurous reading in the classics or a biography? Why not open a whole new world of discovery by giving a book on crafts, science or nature? Why not introduce the fascinating stories of fiction, adventure or mystery?

Where can you purchase these books? Why not attend the annual Bennett Book Fair which will be held for three consecutive days, Oct. 17, 18 and 19, at the Bennett School? The book fair will be open during the hours of 8:30 to 3:30 on Monday and Tuesday, 7 to 10 on Tuesday evening, and 8:30 to 3:30 on Wednesday.

The book fair is being sponsored by the Bennett P-TA which earns 20 per cent of all sales and profits. In keeping with the desire of the P-TA to promote a more comprehensive library service for the children, half of last year's proceeds were voted to the school library for the purchase of records.

Mrs. Mary Farstad, the newly appointed book fair chairman, and her committee will be available to aid you in your selections and purchases. The committee is working with the Educational Reading Service, a professional book fair company, to furnish an individual selection of books for the fair.

One and all are invited to attend and participate in the book fair and help spur parent-student interest in reading and in building home libraries.

6 From Bennett Attend Workshop

For the first time in its history, Ulster County was privileged to have a P-TA District Conference held at the Woodstock Elementary School, Oct. 3. Officers and chairmen of the Taconic District P-TA Board conducted practical workshops on all areas of P-TA activity. Onteora, Kingston and Saugerties P-TA units exchanged various ideas especially in regard to high school parent-teacher associations which seem to have a declining membership. Pamphlets, magazines and books were displayed and available to all who were present.

The following officers and chairmen of the Bennett P-TA attended: Judy Moses, president; Eleanor Proper, recording secretary; Rosemary Wiederspiel, treasurer; Mazie Malek, historian; Sadie Sureda, hospitality chairman; Lorrie Dodge, publicity chairman.

The P-TA of the Oneora school district was host and served refreshments at the close of the conference.

Says Firm Stalling

PITTSBURGH (AP) — an official of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) says Westinghouse Electric Corp. is engaged in "deliberate stalling" in contract negotiations.

Robert Nellis, chairman of IUE's Westinghouse Conference Board, said Tuesday the firm has not budged from a three-year contract proposal submitted last month.

"Not one single word has been changed by Westinghouse negotiators since Sept. 26," said Nellis, "not one single word, despite responsible and significant objections raised by this union."

The IUE and two other unions — the Federation of Westinghouse Salaried Unions and the independent United Electrical Workers — are free to strike the firm on midnight Friday. The three represent about 61,400 workers.

Westinghouse is also negotiating with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO, which is free to strike on Nov. 1.

Killed by Car

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N. Y. (AP)-Raymond Holmes, 50, of St. Regis Falls, was killed today when struck by an automobile near a construction site southwest of this Jefferson County community.

State Police said Holmes, an employe of a construction company, was directing traffic to allow a company truck to back onto route 12 when he was struck.

Woodstock on Pilot Teevee; West Hurley to Start Soon

Much interest has been evinced in a recent article in this column on the experimental program of educational television in the Woodstock School and other schools of the Onteora District. For this reason, additional data on the program has been researched.

During the school year just passed, plans were completed to explore the use of television for classroom use this year and in the future. Reception difficulties had postponed the use of this media in the past, but many here were aware that the use of educational TV had proved successful in many parts of the country and hoped to use it here when the opportunity arose.

When Cablevision became available to the Woodstock School and news was released that it could be expected in the West Hurley School area some time this year, the administration and the Board of Education felt the time had arrived. Although adequate reception is not available at the present time at the Boiceville and Phoenicia schools, there is a possibility of a future tower to handle these buildings.

Accomplishments Planned

With the program just beginning, it is hoped that the following will be accomplished during 1966-67 as far as educational TV is concerned here. The Woodstock School has entered into an experiment with educational programs from Channel 13 in New York from now through May and a Channel 13 consultant has already visited Woodstock to talk with administrators and elementary teachers in the district.

Onteora also hopes to introduce experimentation in West Hurley as soon as Cablevision is available there and will obtain free consultant service from General Electric and RCA to locate TV towers for use at Boiceville and Phoenicia schools and prepare cost estimate for such a tower or towers. In the meantime, all schools in the district will use Channel 13 16-mm recordings as supplemental programs. Onteora also will explore closed circuit television for use in the high school, particularly for large group instruction.

The pilot program at Woodstock School, which had only three TV sets, one of which was purchased many years ago, will see two other sets purchased. Two of the old sets were purchased from student picture money and one of the new sets can be purchased from such funds, while the other will be bought by the P-TA. With five sets, officials feel the program can be initiated and if more are needed, they can be purchased later in the year.

Three Cablevision outlets were available in the Woodstock School, one each in the cafetorium, library and conference room. Now planned are several more outlets in classrooms this year.

Used in 196- 66

Actually, Channel 13 television was used last year at Woodstock by the librarian and primary teachers. In addition, many students saw the space missile programs which made news, including launchings and recoveries.

Channel 13 programs will be used this year as supplemental educational experiences by selected teachers in grades kindergarten through sixth at Woodstock and will be evaluated by them at the end of the year. Among the programs planned will be language arts, science, math for the gifted, music enrichment, American Shrines, Children of Other Lands, French at three levels, and others.

Cost would not seem to be excessive. Onteora plans to spend $682.50 from its research and development funds to enroll 455 Woodstock School pupils in the Channel 13 program, based on a cost of $1.50 per pupil. Recently, the Board of Education transferred monies into the same fund for installation of TV outlets for Cablevision in Woodstock classrooms at a cost of $248; for installation of similar outlets in West Hurley classrooms as soon as service is available for $300; and for consultant service to write a project for State and Federal money and to make a feasibility study for use of live and closed circuit TV in the entire district at a cost of $200. Fifty per cent of all these costs should be returned to the district through Sate Aid available for his purpose.

Implementation of instruction in Woodstock has already begun and handbooks detailing the 1966-67 program from Channel 13 have been distributed to teachers in a workshop session with a representative of that channel. Teachers already seem enthusiastic, and in addition to pilot program viewing, students also watch programs of current interest from regular broadcast channels in group sessions, including the landing of the latest Gemini space shot.

Pooped Pipes

Rusty water coming out of faucets in a house is often a warning sign that old iron pipes are wearing out and may soon need replacement. This is a problem that can never occur where plastic pipe is used.

FFA Cites Eight

The State Education Department announced here that the following had been selected to receive the degree at the current national FFA convention in Kansas City, Mo.:

Selassie Welcomed

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia was welcomed to Jordan today by King Hussein and government leaders. Selassie came from Lebanon for a three-day visit.

Relaxing Export Restrictions on Strategic Goods

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department relaxed export restrictions today on about 400 non-strategic commodities for shipment to Russia and her Eastern European allies.

The move is in line with remarks made last Friday in New York City by President Johnson. He said export controls between East and West would be relaxed in a move to ease tensions and promote trade.

The action could also serve to isolate further Communist China and her Asian allies.

Commodities on which trade restrictions were relaxed, effective today, include textile products, some metal manufactures and machinery, foodstuffs, chemical materials and products, and a variety of manufactured articles.

These products can now be exported to Eastern Europe without prior specific approval of the Commerce Department. They will move under what the department terms a general license.

Poughkeepsie Girl Dies

To Dig Up Lawn For Model T Ford Plan Big Party

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III

DETROIT (AP) — If there's one thing Mrs. Arthur A. Allen likes it's a nice party.

And it's a good thing she does. Some people she has never met have invited half the city of Detroit out to her house Saturday to dig under an apple tree for an old model T Ford that supposedly was buried there 40 years ago.

To Make Coffee

"I was planning to make coffee. It could turn out to be such a nice party if the people don't get too rambunctious," said Mrs. Allen today.

Mrs. Allen, a mother of four and wife of a police lieutenant, lives on property once owned by a man named Perry Andrews.

Andrews tried to sell his 1913 model T in 1926. Nobody would buy it, so he tried to give it to his son-in-law.

When the son-in-law, William Morris Sr., now 63, said he'd like to have the car but wanted to put a sports body on it, Andrews apparently couldn't bear the thought.

Morris dropped in one day and found Andrews digging the hole.

Was Sentimental

"He was that kind of guy, he was very sentimental," said Morris.

Morris told the story many times over the years and a couple of months ago Harvey Versteeg of the Detroit Historical Museum heard it. Versteeg happened to be in the market for a cheap 1913 model T and suggested digging it up.

Bud Guest, who has a show on radio station WJR, heard about their plans and asked his listeners to drop by on Saturday and help.

Judging from the response most of them plan to be there.

Report Captives May Be Getting Decent Treatment

WASHINGTON (AP) — For scores of hopeful and worried American families, U.S. officials had good news: Their captured or missing husbands and sons may be receiving decent treatment as prisoners of war in North Viet Nam.

The officials revealed Tuesday the United States now has some evidence that American pilots held in prisons by the Hanoi government apparently are not being mistreated or brainwashed.

"The fragmentary and unreliable evidence we have is that they're being decently treated,' a high State Department source involved in POW negotiations said. "There's no indication of brutality or mistreatment in the North."

The official added: "But we don't like to say they're not being mistreated when we can't get anyone in" to inspect the POW camps.

Recent government statistics show that 54 men are known to be POWs, 65 are suspected captives and about 140 pilots are missing in North Viet Nam.

Many military sources, however, believe that as many as 200 pilots are imprisoned in North Vietnamese POW camps.

Catskill Teeners Hurt In Greene Auto Crash

State Police at Leeds reported two Catskill teeners were injured Tuesday evening about 8:25 o'clock when a car operated by 18-year-old Davis A. Gabriel of Catskill went out of control on Cauterskill Road in Greene County and struck a "fixed" object.

Gabriel was charged by Troopers with speeding and having unsafe tires. He will be arraigned later.

With Gabriel was Susan Shelogg, 16, of Catskill. She sustained a broken left arm and facial injuries and with Gabriel was taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital by Citizens Hose Ambulance. Gabriel suffered facial injuries.

Citizens Hose was summoned to the scene when the car caught fire after the accident. No other car was involved in the accident, troopers reported.

Dresses Too Short, 71 Girls Suspended

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Seventy-one Hawthorne Junior High School girls were suspended for a day this week for wearing above-the knee dresses and skirts.

Principal W. Dain Higdon sent the girls home after a "lineup" at the school in the school auditorium.

Higdon said he was enforcing school board rules that classroom dress must be appropriate.

"When three-quarters of their thigh is showing when they sit down, I think that dress is too short," Higdon said.

Snake Thief Active

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A snake thief has struck again, taking two six-foot pythons owned by Thomas Taylor from a shed behind his home in Phoenix, Ariz.

Earlier Tuesday, a seven-foot boa constrictor reported missing July 13 by Thomas Clendenin was dumped from a moving car in front of Clendenin's home.

Police said the big boa, which Clendenin had taken home from his snake farm north of Phoenix, "seemed angry" but was apparently was unhurt.

Freckles usually result from being out in strong sunlight but are often hereditary.

Dr. Leary Freed On Own Recognizance

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Timothy Leary, the LSD man, is free on his own recognizance today, following his arrest on a charge of violating a customs regulation.

Federal officers arrested him Tuesday at La Guardia Airport. They said he went to Canada without notifying customs that he had a narcotics conviction, a notification required by federal law.

Leary appeared on a television show in Toronto Monday night.

The 45-year-old former Harvard lecturer is free on $2,500 bail while appealing a federal conviction in Texas for possession of untaxed marijuana. He was sentenced to 30 years in prison and a $30,000 fine.

Leary, of Millbrook, N.Y., recently announced he is founding what he calls a new "religion" based on the use of LSD and other hallucinatory drugs as "sacraments." However, he said he will not advocate use of the drugs until he obtains a court order legalizing them for religious purposes.

Will Rule Friday

this community to publicity which the U.S. Supreme Court ruled, in upholding a retrial for Sheppard, was prejudicial.

Prosecutor John T. Corrigan entered an objection that the exhibits should not be entered "until and unless there is some sworn testimony on the issue 'Can a fair trial be had' ".

Accepted for Record

Judge Talty said Corrigan's arguments had substance. But he was receiving the exhibits for the record.

Sheppard was on hand early for the hearing which was scheduled at 9:15 a.m. but did not begin until 9:33 a.m. The small courtroom's last row of benches was empty and 13 newsmen filled assigned seats in the first row. There were a few newsmen in the almost-filled second row. There was not a woman in the courtroom.

If Talty denies the motion, the trial will begin next Tuesday in his second-floor courtroom, exactly 12 years after Sheppard's first trial started in a courtroom across the hall.

Sheppard, 42, was convicted of second-degree murder in the bludgeon slaying of his first wife, Marilyn, July 4, 1954, at their suburban Bay Village lakefront home. At the time of the slaying, Sheppard was an osteopath.

10 Years In Prison

Sheppard spent 10 years in prison after his 1954 conviction, then was freed on July 16, 1964, by U.S. District Judge Carl A. Weinman at Dayton. Weinman rights were violated in the first trial.

The U.S. Supreme Court last June, in an 8-1 decision, upheld Wieman, saying prejudicial news converage and "bedlam" in the courthouse prevented Sheppard from getting a fair trial in 1954.

Talty has said no cameras or recording devices would be allowed in the courthouse. He also prohibited interviews of witnesses, participating lawyers and their associates and employes "before, during or after" the hearings.

Police Close Probe On Tirella Death

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — After questioning Doris Duke a second time, Police Chief Joseph A. Radice says he has closed his investigation into an auto mishap that killed Eduardo Tirella, a friend of the tobacco heiress.

"There is no cause to prefer charges against Miss Duke," Radice said Tuesday, and concluded that the fatality was accidental.

Police said Tirella, 42, an interior decorator and movie set designer, was killed Friday night when a car driven by Miss Duke, 53, struck him at the entrance to her estate, Rough Point.

Mao Heir Weary

TOKYO (AP) — Expert observers of Communist Chinese affairs said today that Marshal Lin Piao, Mao Tse-tung's heir apparent, appeared mentally and physically weary at the Peking rally Oct. 1 marking Red China's 17th anniversary.

Lin, 57, Red China's defense minister, was seriously wounded in the Chinese-Japanese war and was reportedly hospitalized in the 1950s with tuberculosis. Because of his health, many observers did not consider him a likely man to succeed Mao until he moved to the front this year. Deterioration in Lin's health could set off a new succession struggle in Peking.

China watchers in Tokyo report that tape recording of the 15-minute speech Lin delivered at the Oct. 1 rally showed that he made at least five mistakes, including one in the opening sentence.

Peking recently has gone out of its way to dispel reports that Mao and Lin were ill.

Resnick to Get Award for Pet Protection Law

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick will be rewarded tonight 6:30 at Deanie's Restaurant, Woodstock by the United States Humane Society for his contribution in sponsoring the Pet Protection Act.

The pet act recently signed into law by President Johnson was drafted by Congressman Resnick to protect pets from being "dognapped" for experimental purposes in laboratories. Many praises have been heralded in Resnick's direction since the bill's passage.

The award that Representative Resnick is slated to receive is a national presentation to thank the congressman for his tireless work in drafting the bill and securing its passage in Congress.

Court Order Fails To Halt Strike Of Rock Island

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — A strike by the Switchmen's Union of North America against the Rock Island Railroad is in full swing despite a temporary restraining order issued early today in Chicago by Judge Joseph Sam Perry of U.S. District Court.

A railroad spokesman said the order would take effect just as soon as it could be served against "various union officers."

The strike involves a grievance with the line at Eldon, Iowa.

In Ponca City, Okla., Tuffy Steinbeck, vice general chairman of the union, said he has "received no official word of the restraining order and the strike is still in full swing." Steinbeck said he would be the one to call off the strike if the order is served.

Steinbeck said the union's general chairman, L. C. Chisholm, is en route eastward to make himself available for talks, presumably in Chicago.

The strike started at 9 p.m. Tuesday and halted freight traffic over the line's 14-state system and forced about 14,000 commuters in the Chicago area to find other transportation early today.

Lynx Comes in Handy

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Would you be nervous if a 4½-foot, 30-pound Canadian lynx perched atop your refrigerator and watched while you cooked breakfast?

Mrs. Leonard Gamble of Whchita, Kan., says it has become routine at her house since a California family made her a present of Athena, a lynx, a year ago when she was only a kitten.

The Gambles say Athena sleeps on a bed with Christine, their 11-year-old daughter; romps with Zazbah, their Siamese cat and their Persian cat Princess, and Chimney Sweep, their three-pound Pomeranian dog.

Athena proved her worth as a watch lynx recently.

A prowler was working at a window and had removed the screen when Athena screamed and leaped through the open window. The family looked out and saw a man jump up, run to an automobile and speed away.

Politician Convicted

PANAMA (AP) — A seven-man jury convicted politician Alfredo Jimenez Tuesday night of attempted murder in the shooting 28 months ago of Dr. Robert Arias, husband of British ballerina Dame Margot Fonteyn.

Jimenez denied the shooting but jumped $5,000 bail months ago when the charge was changed from assault with a deadly weapon. He was tried in absentia.

The jury deliberated 80 minutes after a nine-day trial. The sentence will be fixed later.

Arias, former ambassador to Britain and a member of one of Panama's leading political families, was shot in June 1964 while his automobile was stopped at a red light in a suburb of Panama City.

Leaders Named For Girl Scout Troops in Area

NEW PALTZ—The Girl Scout Neighborhood Service team for New Paltz has announced the list of new leaders for Girl Scout Troops. The new leaders who are taking the training course in Kingston are as follows:

The Mmes. Gilbert Clough, Fred Sutter, Floyd Kniffen Jr., John Winters, Ronald Schaefer, E. Bruenemeyer, Mike VanRyn, Richard Impola, Jack Tears, R. H. Draffen and Senior Scout Judy Abrams. Previously trained, Joan Freeman is leading a cadet troop with Kathy Krajicek to assist.

Joan Freeman has had more than 14 years experience as a leader with both Senior and International Scouts. She has also been a member of a camp committee. Mrs. Bruenmeyer has been a Girl Scout from Brownies right through Senior Scouts. She was a member of her planning board, attended Senior Round-Up and visited the Cabana in Mexico, camping there. Miss Krajicek is a local Girl Scout and is familiar with all levels of the Scout program.

One assistant leader is still needed to help Mrs. Bruenmeyer with her Cadette Troop.

The Neighborhood is trying to organize at least two troops in the Duzine School to meet the needs of the girls, but has been unsuccessful in recruiting leadership. Unless parents volunteer, only 16 girls out of a total of 48 applications can be accommodated.

Many troops have transferees from other councils and they are bringing Scouting from other areas to enrich the local program. Many leaders have expanded the size of their troops to accommodate more girls.

The Garden Club of New Paltz has presented each leader and members of the service team with the book Tune in to Nature written by Ruth Smiley. It is a beautiful book and it will prove most useful and rewarding to the leaders who were very appreciative of the gift.

Child Health Clinics Scheduled Thursday

Two Child Health conference conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at the Health Center at 175 Main Street, New Paltz Thursday, Oct. 13 at 9-10 a. m., and from 1-2 p. m.

These clinics are limited to infant and pre-school children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parent in understanding of growth development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of the immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and polio.

These are well child clinics for the maintenance of health and prevention of disease, not for the care of the sick child. Children under the regular health supervision of their own physician are not admitted unless the psysician desires this service to be taken over by the Child Health Conference. In this manner, duplication of service is avoided, facilitating the work of the private physician.

If there are any questions regarding the conferences the public health nurse may be contacted at the Health Center in New Paltz between 9 and 10 a. m.

Food for Americans

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Old Sturbride Village in Sturbridge, Mass., is a living re-creation of an early 19th century village There in the charming Gen. Salen Towne House (a particularly good example of early American architecture) set in beautiful gardens, we watched Mrs. Rita Volpini demonstrate fireplace cooking. She was making thin wafers, something like sugar ice cream cones. She used a 105-year-old wafer iron, removing it from the fire in the hearth to a work table. Then she poured batter into the hot iron. She baked three wafers before returning the iron to the fire to reheat. While the wafers were warm, she rolled them into cones and filled them with whipped cream and jelly.

This is just one example of the drudgery early New England housewives went through to prepare a meal. We took her recipe and translated it into 1966 terms, all drudgery removed but with the delicate flavor retained. No antique wafer irons or fireplaces needed.

OLD STURBRIDGE VILLAGE THIN WAFER CONES

2 eggs
½ cup sugar
¾ cup melted butter
¼ cup all-purpose flour
Dash of salt
⅛ teaspoon mace

Beat eggs until light gradually beating in sugar until well-blended. Fold in remaining ingredients.

Drop the batter by teaspoonfuls on a nonstick aluminum baking sheet? lightly greased. Spread batter thin to make 3-inch rounds. Bake only two or three at a time and allow room for spreading. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) 10-12 minutes until lightly browned. Carefully remove from baking sheet and roll into a cone shape while warm. Makes about 2 dozen cones.

SUGAR CONES made the old-fashioned way.

New Teenage Project

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Willie Hunter, a teen-ager who once walked to Washington in support of U.S. Viet Nam policy, has a new project — collecting Christmas gifts for servicemen in the Asian country.

Hunter and two other 17-year-old Negro pupils at Archer High School have formed a group called "The Commission on Viet Nam."

"We would like to make Christmas in Viet Nam more meaningful for the soldiers," Hunter said.

Many Possibilities Offered in Hand

BY OSWALD and James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Jim says: "Here is an example of the Bath coup as used by the late Milton Work in his lectures."

Oswald: "It is a classic example. South has nothing to gain by taking the first spade. If he does, he may still make three no-trump but probably will not."

Jim: "If he ducks the first spade West will still be on lead. Mr. Work pointed out that West would be end-played at trick two inasmuch as he would lose a trick irrespective of which suit he led."

Oswald: "The hand is rather complicated for a column. There are plays in all four suits. Thus, if West does lead a spade at trick two South will lead a heart to dummy and lose a diamond finesse. West will lead a third spade to set up two spade tricks for himself. South will be able to take the club finesse for his ninth trick but may try some sort of a heart end play and go down."

Jim: "If West shifts to a club at trick two he will give South a third club for his ninth trick. Similarly a low heart lead will give South a third heart trick. I will always wonder what would happen to South if West led the queen of hearts at trick two."

Oswald: "Milton never considered that play. It was just too much to assume the lead of queen from that holding. Today there are many players who would make that very play and if they did I fear that any declarer would win with the ace, lead a heart back toward dummy for a finesse and lose to the jack of hearts whereupon East would lead a spade and South would be down two tricks.

Diplomas in Lieu

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuba has given diplomas and medals to 632 workers with 50 years service — but asked them not to retire yet.

At a ceremony, the sugar industry minister, Orlando Borrego, told the veterans of the cane fields and grinding mills, "We are pretty sure that most of you prefer this public recognition to an increase in salaries," Havana radio reported.

Questions Often Asked About Chest Drives

Why does the Community Chest insist on payroll deductions? This question seems appropriate since the present Ulster County Community Chest drive is for $299,600, for operating expenses for its 13 member agencies. The Industrial Division, comprising of 84 firms with over 15 employes and the Small Business Division for businesses under 15 employes both have as their prime objective to have the employer provide payroll deduction for its employes. At present only an estimated 15 per cent do cooperate.

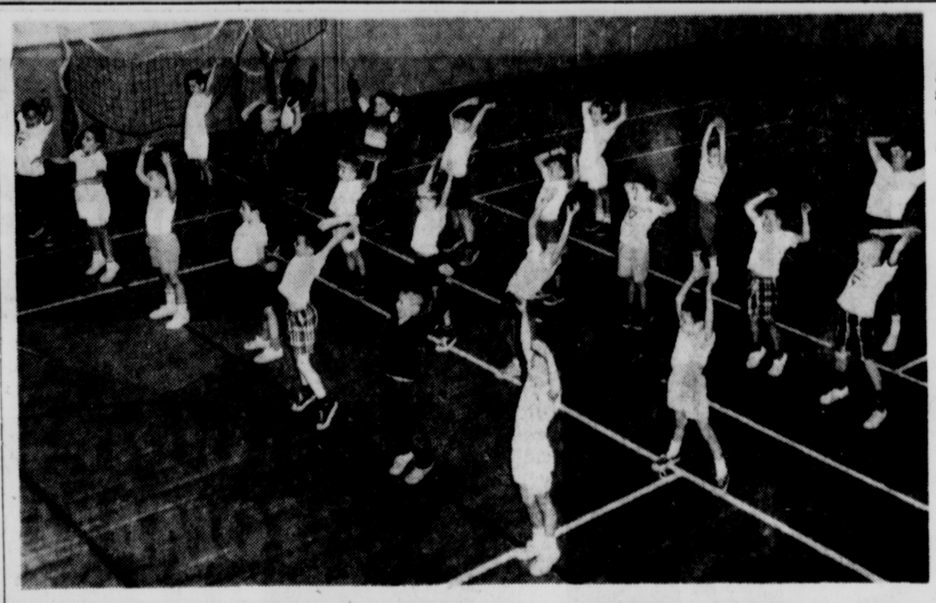

The answer is simply that most people prefer this method of giving and also it enables them to give more generously for all 13 agencies in one pledged gift. This is a common practice today in our society — that old paycheck gets whittled down several times before we get the remainder — net pay.

On occasion people will complain—"No!" another deduction" but when they are honest they express a preference for the payroll deducation for the Community Chest. Some times employers will complain, too, at the administration expense. But here again when they are frank they agree one more deduction is not too much of an effort.

We should add that some organizations have considerable turnover in employes and a better plan is to bill from the Chest office each month. This proves very successful when people move to other jobs during the year. Our experience with people paying up their pledges has been good.

The next question to be answered is - How Much Does it Cost to Conduct a Chest Campaign and Administration Costs During the Year?

A solitary ant works less than half as hard at nest building as one with a partner.

NEW GYM CLASS AT Y—Members of the newly-formed first and second grade gym class are shown during a recent workout. The program was started in mid-September and is conducted every Tuesday and Friday from 3:30 to 4:45 p. m. Activities include relay races, group games, exercises and skill instruction on an elementary level. The YMCA is a member of the Ulster County Community Chest. (Freeman photo to by Wagenfohr.)

Police Seek Prowlers

Reports of prowlers in the city at 24 John Street and on Josephine Avenue were investigated Tuesday night by city police. Search of the areas revealed no suspicious persons, police said.

Chest Combined Radio Program

"The Community meets the Community Chest" is the theme for the public meeting and live broadcast by three radio stations Tuesday, Oct. 18 at 11 a. m. at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

This cooperative effort will feature a panel to be moderated by Dr. Dale B. Lake, president of the Ulster County Community College. It will provide the public the opportunity to raise questions concerning the operation of the Chest, its agencies and campaigning. The present campaign has raised only $139,395 or 46.4 per cent of the $299,600 goal. It is reported that many individuals and business do not understand the Chest concept and its operations. Many have raised questions to the solicitor to indicate the need for this public meeting where all questions can be aired. Phones will be available or person may appear in person.

A combined broadcast by local radio stations is a breakthrough and evidence of community concern for adequate service by the 13 agencies. Area newspapers also will be invited to join the panel of Chest officials and radio commentators.

Law Enforcement Image Theme of FBI Conference

Law Enforcement Image was the theme of an all-day conference conducted Tuesday by the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Bear Mountain Park.

Attending from this area were Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, Kingston; Chief Constable Harold T. Bowers, Town of Rosendale; Jack Lupton, resident agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and Robert Jenkins, also of the FBI office here.

Speakers during the law enforcement conference included: Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary, New York City; Commissioner Francis B. Looney, Nassau County; Dr. William McAloon, dean of Pace College, Pleasantville; Commissioner Daniel F. McMahon, Yonkers Police department; Commissioner George Merle, Mount Vernon, and Colonel Harry J. Schroeder, Commander of the 4th Regiment, U.S. Corps Cadets, U.S. Military Academy, West Point.

Girl Is Still Missing

Mrs. Stanley Colvin, 176 East Chester Street, told The Freeman today that no word has been received from her daughter, Gail, 13, who has been missing from home since Sept. 29. The girl, a first year student at MJM School, took no clothing or other personal articles with her when she left home, other than the clothes she was wearing when she disappeared. Any one having any information about the missing girl, is asked to notify police or Mrs. Colvin.

The porpoise has a brain bigger and in some ways apparently more complex than man's.

Rocky Announces Alcoholic Unit At Buffalo State

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today announced a new 60-bed alcoholic treatment unit at Buffalo State Hospital would be developed and said plans were underway for establishing two others units with a total of 90 beds.

He also announced the appointment of two experts to help establish a New York State Research Institute on Alcoholism which would "provide intensive and sustained research into alcoholism" and train personnel to work with alcoholics.

Named to guide the efforts of a special committee to establish the institute were Dr. Ebbe Curtis Hoff, considered an authority on research into alcoholism, and Dr. Joseph Adelstein, who has established services for alcoholics.

The governor said the quarters being renovated at the hospital in Buffalo would bring the total capacity for such facilities in the state Department of Mental Hygiene hospitals to 510 beds.

Completion of work on the unit at Buffalo is expected by early next year, he said, with its operation to being soon thereafter.

Rosendale Pastor Marks 40th Year As Priest Sunday

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Vincent dePaul Mulry of St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, will celebrate the 40th anniversary of his ordination to the Holy Priesthood this Sunday, Oct. 16. He will offer a jubilee Mass at 2 p. m. and a public reception will follow in St. Peter's Parish Hall. All parishioners and friends are invited.

Msgr. Mulry made his theological studies at St. Joseph's Seminary, Dunwoodie, Yonkers. He was ordained at St. Patrick's Cathedral on Sept. 18, 1926. Because of his exceptional academic record, he was sent for graduate study to the Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C. In June of the following year he was appointed assistant pastor of St. Catharine's Church, Pelham, and soon after was given the added post of professor at the College of New Rochelle in New Rochelle. ### PSC Orders Jamaica To Delay Water Hike

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Public Service Commission ordered the Jamaica Water Supply Co. today to hold up its plan for increasing rates to its customers.

The company had announced its intention of raising rates by a total of $734,450 a year, effective Nov. 10. But the PSC suspended the plan until public hearings are held to determine whether the increases are justified.

The hearings are to begin Nov. 1 at the commission's New York City office.

The company serves about 117,500 consumers in the Hempstead area of Nassau County and provides fire - protection service to 10 municipalties and 556 private customers.

Buffalo Man Dies

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)— Joseph Meaney, 60, of Buffalo, died Tuesday night in Mercy Hospital of injuries suffered Sept. 22 when struck by an automobile at a city intersection.

He lived at 369 Abbott Road.

Denies CIA Aided Flight of B26s Sold to Portugal

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)— The U.S. Central Intelligence Agency in no way helped in the flight of seven B26 bombers from the U.S. to Portugal, the agency's general counsel says.

The testimony of Lawrence R. Houston came Tuesday in the federal court trial of two men— one a French count and the other a former Royal Air Force pilot — charged fith conspiring to illegally export the airplanes last year.

Judge John O. Henderson of U.S. District Court branded the charge of CIA involvement "pure theory", saying it was based on the defense lawyer's opening remarks and the testimony of two defense witnesses.

On trial are John R. Hawke, 28, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the former RAF pilot, and Henri de Montmarin, 58, a Paris, France, businessman.

Hawke insisted the bomber deal was supported by the CIA, but the agency has denied the charge.

Lawyers for both the defense and the government rested their cases after nearly four weeks of testimony. Henderson adjourned the trial until Thursday when summations will be heard. He told the jury of 10 men and two women that it can expect to begin deliberation Thursday afternoon.

Henderson said CIA documents indicated the agency, rather than promote the project, dissiminated the information that led to the arrests in September, 1965. He refused to admit the documents as evidence.

Henderson also ruled CIA documents compiled after the arrests as inadmissable, claiming they were "irrelevant and immaterial."

Local Man Involved In Red Hook Mishap

A Kingston man was involved in a three car accident Monday night in Red Hook.

According to State Police at Rhinebeck, Louis Sable, 72, of Kingston, was driving south on Route 9 in the Town of Red Hook when his car was struck in the left front by a car driven by John Mahon, 30, of Craryville.

Mahon was proceeding north on Route 9 when the car driven by Ralph Moreno, 36, of Hudson, also northbound, slowed to make a turn. Mahon swerved left into the path of the Sable car, striking the left rear of the Moreno car as well as Sable's vehicle.

Sable complained of back injuries but was not taken to the hospital.

To Hear Claims

OTTAWA (AP) — An international tribunal will hear U.S. property owners who claim they suffered flood damage in 1951 and 1952 because of a dam Canada built at the turn of the century.

A U.S.-Canadian agreement to set up the three-member group to arbitrate the claims was ratified in Ottawa and Washington Tuesday.

The claimants, on the south shore of Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence River, say they suffered damage from unusually high water levels caused by Gut Dam, about 10 miles downstream from Prescott, Ont.

Claims are believed to total millions of dollars.

The dam was removed in 1953 as part of the St. Lawrence Seaway construction program.

The joint tribunal, unprecedented in the history of the two nations, will start sittings early next year. Its findings will be binding on both governments.

Troopers to Give Blood

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The New York State Police are arranging to collect 1,300 pints of blood a year to provide free blood transfusions for troopers and their families.

Supt. Arthur Cornelius said Tuesday that the State Police would donate to the blood-bank pool. Surplus blood, he said, would be made available to other persons in cases of emergency or disaster.

Fairport Girl Killed

FAIRPORT, N.Y. (AP)— Adah Hazzard, 13, of Fairport, was struck and killed by an automobile Tuesday night on Whitney Road West in this village just southwest of Rochester.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Hazzard.

The girl lived at 18 East St.

County Advertises Foliage Season

Frank A. Byer, executive director of the Ulster County Publicity Committee, has allocated some funds for the promotion of the fall foliage season in Ulster County.

Advertising and publicity releases for the nominal campaign are being handled by Michael C. Starkman, Valley Advertising Agency, Inc., Kingston. Material was released yesterday.

"We in Ulster County are in a position to enjoy the benefits of tourists and sightseers from metropolitan areas coming to admire the natural beauty of the area and visiting the historic stone houses and other points of interest," Byer said, "and this week autum's lavish color 'tricks' are at their height. I feel the 'treats' in store for the traveler could bring substantial business to the area restaurants, motels, inns and other related business", Byer continued.

In addition, Byer pointed out, urban people will probably say "gosh to McIntosh" as they see the apple harvest come in at various orchards, collection points and road side stands.

Paraphrasing extensively from the new four-color map/brochure which the county recently purchased, Byer said, "these map/brochures — quite colorful also — will be used to answer inquiries resulting from the ad. The brochure recently completed by Starkman is also available to local citizenry, who may procure them at Central Hudson Gas & Electric where Byer maintains his office, or at the County Office Building and the local Chamber of Commerce. Some commercial firms have purchased quantities for their own use with their own imprint.

Mahoney Opposes Unicameral Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The former majority leader of the State Senate says that two houses are better than one when it comes to Legislatures.

Walter J. Mahoney expressed that opinion in a speech Tuesday night at Columbus Day dinner here.

Mahoney, now treasurer of the State Thruway Authority, said that a one - house legislature "would mean that provincialism and localism would be intensified."

The Buffalo Republican remarked that the question of creating a unicameral legislature was among questions advanced for possible consideration by the state's Constitutional Convention next year.

In addition to eliminating the "checks and balances" now present in the state's Senate - Assembly relationship, Mahoney said, the unicameral legislature would create narrow viewpoints because each member would represent only a very small protion of the state.

Politicos Drop Issues to Mark Columbus Day

NEW YORK (AP) — Democrats and Republicans dropped the issues and joined forces Tuesday night to honor the man who may or may not have made it all possible — Christopher Columbus.

From Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and his Democratic rival Frank D O'Connor to Mayor John V. Lindsay, and former mayor Robert F. Wagner — the politicians turned out.

And as Sen. Robert F. Kennedy laughingly told more than 2,500 persons at the Waldorf-Astoria, it took quite a man to bring together "those two great political rivals of the State of New York — Mayor Lindsay and Governor Rockefeller."

The man responsible, Fortune Pope, is president of the Columbus Day Citizens Committee, which has sponsored the Columbus Day parades and dinners for the past 22 years to support its scholarship program for graduates of the city's public and parochial high schools.

Lindsay sidestepped the November elections, but had something to say about parades.

He thanked the Columbus Day committee "for not having the parade a 12:08 in the morning," a reference to a late-ending Veterans of Foreign Wars march down Fifth Avenue that angered residents last summer.

Getting up to speak, Rockefeller extended greetings to "Senator Kennedy, Mayor Lindsay and Bob and Barbara Wagner."

But looking across the dias and into the audience, Rockefeller joked, "It seems these mayors have all gone ... fast moving town, ladies andg entlemen."

In a welcome to his democratic opponent, the governor said, "We have a new arrival here, President of the City Council Frank O'Connor."

O'Connor never got a chance to answer back. He wasn't on the evening's program.

When Kennedy was introduced he greeted the audience in Italian, then switched to English. He gave this explanation: "I was told there were three people who didn't understand Italian here so I'm going to speak in English."

Requiem for Trees

Editor, The Freeman

This is a requiem for a few trees. They weren't too large, as trees go. They had been trimmed each year because their energetic branches wanted to twist and tear wires on their way to the sky. But oh, how beautiful they were — yesterday. The colors were just beginning to take on that painted quality poets write about.

But that was yesterday. Today they are gone. The love for beauty of someone so many years ago; the joy of them for young and old; black and white, good and bad, for all people, in years gone by and years yet to come, was destroyed yesterday in just about ten minutes.

Kingston is getting a new post office. We need it so badly that on a field of over two acres in size the corner where those trees grew just had to be a part of the new building. It could not be moved back a few feet more to allow the natural beauty of six or seven trees to enhance it.

More shocking is the fact that no one, myself included, had the foresight to worry about those trees. We thought the building was to be placed on the southwest corner, which would have saved them. But there was no one interested enough when the building was being drawn up to worry about the trees. And so they are gone.

The face of our city is once again desecrated because none of us care enough. The city's neighborhoods deteriorate slowly while we spend millions on urban renewal. And no one cares.

Will someone help us replace those trees?

Sincerely,
Mrs. Richard A. White

Endorses Rocky

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Evening News endorsed Gov. Rockefeller Tuesday for re-election.

The newspaper, which describes itself politically as independent Republican, also backed the Republican governor in his two previous successful efforts for the governorship.

In an editorial, the News said Rockefeller was "running on a very full record of sound accomplishment embracing independence, personal courage and unquestioned leadership capacity."

The newspaper said Rockefeller faced three contenders "of unproved potential, not one of whom has offered a single plausible reason to believe that he could better attack and solve the myriad problems of our state."

Sees Playground Equipment Today As Sophisticated

By JACK MILLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's a better time than ever to be a kid.

You know this if you've had a look at the latest in playground equipment for the space-age small fry.

Consider that classic of the traditional playground: The slide. Compared with the latest, it's much too simple, drab, uninteresting, dangerous and fragile.

Now, the very young can climb up a make-believe rocket to a height of 20 feet and slide down any of several chutes. And, though higher, the rocket slide is safer because its upper reaches are enclosed (though the kids can see out).

The flashy, colorful new equipment even teaches more, it's clear from a tour of exhibits at the National Recreation and Park Association congress here.

One slide in effect teaches what the free enterprise system is all about. Called "Earn-A-Slide," it has handgrips around its big, triangular sliding area. The kids who pull themselves up the highest get the longest slide down.

Parents don't have to be told that the new equipment costs a lot more money. The manufacturers' comeback is that the equipment saves money because, through use of new materials, it needs practically no upkeep and is almost indestructible.

Gotham to Draft 26 to 35s Soon

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City men between the ages of 26 and 35 will be drafted beginning in February unless manpower quotas are reduced soon, a city Selective Service spokesmen says.

The spokesman said Tuesday night it would be the first time that men in this age group have been drafted since World War II.

Increased monthly quotas set in Washington are depleting the under-26 draft pool here, he said.

There now are 3,000 men here between 26 and 35 who are classified 1A or 1AO the spokesman said, and the latter are conscientious objectors who would not serve in combat positions.

He added that most of those men have already undergone mental and physical examinations and could be inducted within two months.

The spokesman said, however, that the draft would not take men in the age group who have hardship, student or occupational deferments or are fathers.

He said the alternatives to inducting the older men would be calling up the reserves, drafting youths 18½ to 19, or cutting into the student deferment rolls.

Sad Bassett Story

CORNING, N.Y. (AP)—Henry, the beer-drinking bassett hound, won't be riding home from the taverns on Market Street in cabs or police cars anymore.

The dog, owned by Amory Houghton Jr., board chairman of the Corning Glass Works, was struck early Monday by an automobile. He was enroute home from the tavern district.

The injuries to Henry, who was 9 years old were so severe that a veterinarian put him to sleep.

For years Henry visited his favorite pubs where he often was given beer. Sometimes he would walk home in the early hours of the morning. At other times cabbies or policemen would give him a ride home, which was four blocks from Market Street.

Today's Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In their official pronouncements, businessmen sometimes sound as stilted, as practiced, as thoroughly prepared to make the "right" statement as the most adept politician

But in their less demanding moments their comments sometimes are more to the point and reveal more the personality of the speaker. For Example:

Debunks Conformity

Sitting in his office some time ago, Thomas J. Watson Jr. belittled the popular tale that International Business Machines, which he heads, demanded conformity in its workers' dress and behavior.

The lights went dim in Watson's office and a wall panel parted to reveal on a screen a life-size photo of the elder T.J. Watson, dressed in a sporty outfit that included checkered socks.

Thomas C. Morrill, vice president of State Farm Mutual Auto Insurance Co., was asked to comment on the insurance industry's role in preventing accidents. The request was made after congressional testimony that put a large part of the blame on automobiles themselves, rather than the drivers.

"We have a direct, selfish interest in preventing accidents because every accident costs us money," he said. Is the auto at fault? "We believe the cause of accidents is 10 per cent the car, 30 per cent the environment and 60 per cent the driver."

Dedicated to Work

Philip Sporn, the former head of American Electric Power Co. and one of the great innovators of the light and power industry, is known for his complete dedication to work. A former immigrant, looked down at the Statue of Liberty from one of the huge windows of the Harbor Club, high in a Manhattan skyscraper.

"Her lighting, yes, it is excellent at certain hours of the morning. Then you can literally see the folds in the drapery of the lady. But at night the lighting is poor."

In the midst of the financial community at the corner of Broad and Wall, the skyline ascends in a jagged, semivertical line like a bullish stock market chart. In the midst of it is Trinity church. Inside, near a sign that reads "Priest on duty from 11:30 to 1:30 for consultation," Canon Bernard C. Newman often sits reading or meditating.

Do Wall Street brokers, strong-minded men of opinions, come here seeking advice:

"They do," he replied. "They come here for the service and then I might get a call later in the day from someone with a personal problem."

What advice do you give them?

"I let them talk about their problem," he said. "I never give advice. I listen."

Lectures by Phone

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Prof. Harold Groves gets through to his students, by telephone.

Groves, a specialist in public finance who teaches an economics course at the University of Wisconsin, had been told by his physician to stay in bed as a result of a slight heart attack Sept. 12.

He resumed his lectures recently using a telephone hookup linking his home and his lecture hall.

Students Facing Charge on Drug

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Three college students face charges of felonious possession of marijuana after city police uncovered Tuesday what they termed a marijuana smoking den serving mostly young people.

Police also confiscated $5,000 worth of marijuana which they said was discovered in the second-floor apartment of Daniel Silber, 20, of Buffalo.

Also charged with possession of the drug were Daniel A. Smolen, 21, of New York City, and William A. Lops, 21, of Niagara Falls.

Police said all three are students at the State University at Buffalo.

A detective trying to serve a speeding warrant on Silber at his apartment led to the discovery of the marijuana and the arrests, police said.

Silber lives at 337 Prospect Ave., Lops, 1632 South Ave. and Smolen, 75 Gerard Ave.

Describe Traffic In Saigon Less Deadly Than Cong

By KENNETH L. WHITING

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Perhaps the only thing more confusing than the war in Viet Nam is the traffic in Saigon.

"It ain't as deadly as them Viet Cong," said one GI as he jumped from the path of a taxi. "But those drivers must be Commie sympathizers."

Lack Flair

Saigon motorists don't have the devil-may-care flair of those in Rome or Mexico City, the insouciance of Paris taxi operators, or the relentlessness of Tokyo drivers. They do, however, operate under conditions simulating a tropical nightmare.

For one thing there is no traffic code. Actually there is, but it hasn't been signed into law yet. Traffic police work under French colonial rules formulated 35 years ago.

Police estimate there has been a 300 per cent increase in civilian traffic in 10 years. No attempt has been made to count thousands of military vehicles.

Saigon has 450 roads, 400 of which seem to be excavated at any given time.

This once sleepy capital appears to be one vast building project. New water mains are going in and military construction is widespread.

Use Horoscope

Some govern their motoring from horoscopes in local papers.

Foreign residents find traffic heavy when horoscopes term a particular day favorable for visiting or getting outdoors. Traffic jams are noticeably lighter on days when the papers warn readers against outside activity.

Lee Van Su, head of research and planning for Saigon's 826-member traffic police, says only older Vietnamese who are devout Buddhists stay at home on four semifast days each month.

Often Saigon drivers seem more polite than those in America or Europe, but John C. Holl, a retired Washington state police traffic expert, says:

"Once they get behind the wheel they are just as aggressive as anybody in the United States."

Adviser Supplied

Holl, of Tacoma, is traffic adviser to the Saigon police, supplied by the U.S. Agency for International Development.

Saigon is a military city with thousands of American, Vietnamese, Korean, Filipino and Australian troops. Su says some of these combat-hardened soldiers do not hesitate to slug police who try to cite them for traffic violations.

"Our traffic is much worse than in the United States because of many slow vehicles here," Su said.

These include bicycles, scooters, horse carts and pedal-power three-wheel passenger cabs as well as autos and trucks.

Public transport is so limited in this city of 2.5 million that policemen were recently drafted to drive a new fleet of city buses.

THE NOVEMBER ELECTIONS will reshuffle the present make-up of Congress. In the Senate, right, the 100 seats are now split 67 Democratic, 33 Republican. Only 35, 20 Democratic and 15 Republican, will be at stake in the balloting, however, with the Democrats favored to retain firm control. In the House, below, now divided 295 Democrats and 140 Republicans, all 435 members are to be elected and chances of significant GOP gains are considered strongest.

Deposits Increase In Savings Banks

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—Regular deposits in the nation's 507 mutual savings banks increased by an estimated $360 million in September, according to information released today by the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks. The estimated gain compares with a regular deposit increase of $430 million in September, 1965. At the end of the month, total regular deposits in mutual savings banks stood at $53.6 billion.

Dr. Grover W. Ensley, executive vice president of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, noted that the industry-wide September gain was the result of interest credited to depositors' accounts.

Final figures for August showed a regular deposit gain of $159 million. During that same period, savings banks increased their mortgage portfolios by $263 million, bringing total mortgage investments to $46.2 billion, roughly 77 per cent of assets. Holdings of U. S. government securities declined by $39 million in August, as contrasted with a $50 million drop in July, to a total of $5.1 billion. Holdings of corporate securities rose by $165 million during August with month-end total holdings of $5.7 billion, while state and municipal bonds showed little net change with month-end total holdings of $276 million.

Saugerties Board Reserves Action On Buying Truck

Following an informal meeting Monday night with representatives of three leading truck manufacturing firms, the Saugerties Village Board has reserved decision on purchase of a heavy duty truck for local use.

The board has been seriously considering the purchase of a large, heavy duty truck for use in snow removal and other areas for several months, but has yet to arrive at a definite conclusion in the matter.

Mayor Cornelius M. Cox rerently appointed all members of the board as a committee to investigate the purchase. This committee replaced a previous committee which had been composed of only two trustees.

Spokesmen for the Walters Company, International and FWD met informally with the board Monday night to discuss the merits of their products, but no vote of any kind was taken. According to Village Clerk James V. Gage, the board should have something definite drawn up by the next regular board meeting and a statement is expected on the purchase or non-purchase of the heavy duty truck at that time.

Jean Arthur Show Gets CBS Pink Slip

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Jean Arthur Show," comeback vehicle for the film comedienne after a retirement of 13 years, will be dropped by CBS early in December after 12 episodes, Programs Vice President Michael Dann said today.

The new series received generally poor critical notices and was in 65th place in the most recently published Nielsen ratings of 90 network shows.

The last program will be shown on Dec. 5, and the following week CBS will replace it with "To Tell The Truth," a long-playing panel show which currently is seen late Sunday afternoons, for the rest of the season.

It is the second program to be dropped early in the season. The first was ABC's "Tammy Grimes Show," removed after four programs.

May Recall Solons

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania House and Senate leaders, who have apparently reached agreement on a plan to recall the legislature next week to consider the consumer credit protection bill, planned to confer today on final details.

House Speaker Robert K. Hamilton suggested Tuesday that the legislators return next Tuesday, and Senate President Pro Tempore James S. Berger later in the day said he agreed with the proposal.

He said he expected to talk to Hamilton today to confirm the date. Both men have the authority to recall their chambers, which are in recess until Nov. 14.

The legislature adjourned last week without acting on the controversial bill, which for the first time would regulate credit sales in Pennsylvania.

A bipartisan committee reached a compromise Saturday, however, clearing the way for the legislature to reconsider the bill.

Describes Marine's Fighting Day in Da Nang Area of Viet

By JOHN LENGEL

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — It was a day the sergeant won his sixth Purple Heart, stabbed a Viet Cong with his knife and heard the enemy wounded coughing and moaning all around.

In the first 15 seconds, the U.S. Marines took heavy casualties — and fought back.

Messed Them Up

"We messed them up, I guess, because they expected us to run, and my gangsters don't work that way. They just ran the hell in to them," said Sgt. Clovis Coffmann, 34, of Richmond, Va. "We charged and broke their skirmish line."

The Marine reconnaissance platoon had been in the field two days this week, observing enemy movements and gathering intelligence about 10 miles south of Chu Lai. Three times the Viet Cong hit them with grenade and rifle fire.

On the second morning, the platoon began moving toward its helicopter evacuation zone through 800 yards of jungle and grass armpit deep.

The sun seemed to stand still as the platoon worked forward in a T-shaped formation with the crossbar at the rear.

Moved 50 Yards

"We had moved 50 yards when the lead man let out a yell, and it was Katie bar the door," Coffmann said.

"They were firing at us from one to 10 yards away with rifles and machine guns."

Cpl. Robert L. Thornton, 20, of Detroit, Mich., was hit in the chest. "He flipped backward, landed on his feet and went right back in again and burned a couple of charlies (Viet Cong)," Coffmann said.

"Two grenades knocked Thornton down again. He got up and went back again."

Thornton blushed as the sergeant told the story. He still had the bullet in his chest. A doctor said it went between two ribs, missed the lung and hit nothing important. Thornton wore a bandaid to keep the wound clean.

Fire While Wounded

Other wounded Leathernecks, hit in the legs and unable to stand, blazed away with rifles and grenades at the estimated 50 enemy troops. One Viet Cong was so close his uniform smoked as he was blasted by a Marine shotgun.

The fight lasted 40 minutes. Coffmann said he counted 16 enemy dead but couldn't tell about the rest.

"We could hear them coughing and moaning all around," he said.

Marine jets and helicopter gunships were called in. As they blazed away, the casualties, the dead and the platoon's equipment were loaded aboard medical evacuation helicopters.

With everyone else out and a helicopter waiting, Coffmann, who is a gunnery sergeant, and Cpl. Alistair Livingston, 23, a former English officer cadet from Yorkshire, stood back to back in the bush. They had two pistols and two grenades between them.

Three Viet Cong came "waltzing down the trail, thinking we must have left," said Coffmann.

"Now, gunny? Now, gunny?" asked Livingston. The sergeant agreed, and "We dusted off three of them," he said.

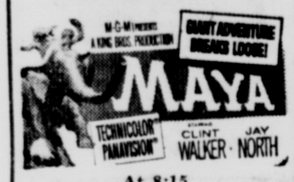

Coffmann stabbed the fourth Viet Cong with his combat knife.

Coffmann, who was hit four times in Korea and once before in Viet Nam, was wounded slightly.

McDonald's Plan Contest Tied to Holiday Parade

The McDonald's hamburger restaurant chain is sponsoring a big national contest to select 25 boys and girls to ride on the McDonald's hamburger float in the famed Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York on Thanksgiving morning. The parade will be on network TV.

One of McDonald's chains is located on Albany Avenue Extension.

Youngsters may enter by registering at any McDonald's hamburger restaurant by Oct. 31.

The 25 contest winners will receive an all-expense airline trip to New York—with one parent—including accommodations, to take part in Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade.

They will be seen on NBC television, as they share the spotlight with a celebrity on the McDonald's float. The float will be a "fantasy land" setting highlighted by the golden arches which are the McDonald's trademark, and will also feature the biggest drum in the world.

The McDonald's hamburger restaurant chain, which numbers some 800 units across the country, is conducting the contest throughout the U.S., except in states where law prohibits drawings.

Besides the 25 grand prize winners who will go to New York to ride on the float, each McDonald's unit will have a winner—who will receive a special 52-week McDonald's "Be Our Guest" card good for a free "All-American" (hamburger, French fries and milkshake) every week for a year.

The contest is open to boys and girls age 7-14, and deadline for entries is Oct. 31. No purchase is required.

Vote Campaign To Have Dirksen On TV, Radio

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen is on his way toward becoming one of the most widely viewed commercials of the congressional election campaign.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, already has taped 30 television and radio spots, ranging in length from 20 seconds to five minutes, and has a score more to do before he makes his painful way to Walter Reed Army hospital next week.

Each of these is an individual effort, rather than a general appeal, in which the candidate's name is dubbed in.

In these commercials for Republican candidates for the House and Senate in the Nov. 8 elections, the tousled-haired Illinois senator is putting forth his usual entertaining zing.

As a practicing thespian who quotes from the Bible and Shakespeare at the drop of a hat, Dirksen is an eye-roller and a hand waver who never fails to claim attention. He also is a very practical politician who knows where the votes are, when to go along with President Johnson and went to fight him.

While Johnson is off touring Asia and attending the Manila summit conference, Dirksen will be in the hospital having 15 steel pins removed that have held together a fractured hip bone for months while it was healing.

Dirksen was invited to accompany the President, but declined with measured thanks.

The GOP leader revealed himself as an optimist in a news conference rundown Tuesday on senatorial races.

He predicted the Republicans will pick up seats in Tennessee, where his son-in-law, Howard H. Baker Jr., is the party nominee, and in Illinois, Montana, Oregon and possibly New Hampshire.

He said he was sticking to his previous prediction that his party would gain 75 House seats.

FDR Jr. Showing Better in Polls Than Expected

NEW YORK (AP) — Polls taken by both the Democratic and Republican parties reportedly show Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., the Liberal party candidate for governor, doing considerably better than most political observers had expected.

The New York Times said today that reliable reports on the party polls indicated that Roosevelt is pulling from 15 to 17 per cent of the vote. Based on the voter turnout in the 1962 gubernatorial contest, this could give him close to a million votes.

Most observers conceded a month ago when Roosevelt was nominated that he would pull between 500,000 to 600,000 votes.

The reading of the current polls by most experts is that Roosevelt is gaining primarily at the expense of the Democratic candidate, Frank D. O'Connor.

Roosevelt denies this. "I am getting as many republican votes as Democratic votes," he said.

The Times said the poll conducted for the democrats showed both O'Connor and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, the Republican candidate, getting slightly more than 30 per cent of the vote, with the governor a bit ahead.

Paul L. Adams, the Conservative party candidate was given about 4 per cent and some 20 per cent of the voters were shown as undecided.

Figures for the candidates other than Roosevelt in the Republican poll were not available.

The new store has been under construction since March and will be ready to open within the next few weeks.

March began his career with Sears as a managment trainee on June 20, 1949 in the company's Lebanon, Pa., store. A two-year program, it was designed to give trainees the opportunity to work in all departments of the store, including the important position of manager of several selling departments.

March's first executive assignment came as inventory control manager in the Vineland, N. J., store in February of 1952. He remained there until his appointment as assistant manager of the Easton, Pa., store early in 1955. A year later he was promoted to the larger Kingston, Pa. store in the same capacity, and in November 1959, was made operating superintendent of the Reading, Pa., store.

The new Kingston manager stayed in Reading for more than four years where he also served as hard-lines merchandise manager. He was appointed personnel fieldman in the company's Mid-Atlantic Zone in February 1964, the position he held prior to his appointment as store manager in Kingston.

A native of Gettysburg, Pa., March grew up there and attended Gettysburg College. He was graduated from Gettysburg in June 1949, with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Business Administration.

Before attending college, March served in the U.S. Army for nearly two years; receiving his discharge in September of 1946.

The Sears executive will make his home with his wife Florence and sons Kenneth, 15, and David, 13, on Forest Hill Drive in Ulster County, not far from the store.

Quite a young man to receive such an important assignment, March was asked if he had any words of advice to offer other young men seeking a career in retailing. His reaction was that any man who sets goals for himself and is willing to work hard to achieve these goals can ultimately make a name for himself in this field.

He cited, for example, Austin W. Cushman, chairman of the board for Sears, Roebuck and Co., who started as a clothing salesman in one of the company's west coast stores.

March pointed out that most of the jobs in the new store have been filled, but that he is anxious to talk with anyone who feels they have somethig to offer the company.

To Ask U.S. Aid

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Prime Minister Abdul Rahman said today he will ask President Johnson to aid Indonesia when Johnson visits Malaysia Oct. 30-31.

"It is no use just saying thank God Indonesia has escaped from the grips of communism," Rahman told his weekly news conference.

"We must now try and rehabilitate her."

Niagara Falls is visited by two million tourists every year, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Governor Points To Records; Dem Foe to His Side

While Gov. Rockefeller points to his administration's record in his bid for re-election, Democratic candidate Frank D. O'Connor points to the man standing beside him—President Johnson.

The President scheduled three speeches today in the New York City metropolitan area with O'Connor at his side.

The Republican governor, meanwhile, cited the record Tuesday of his past two administrations in the fields of court reform, penal law reform, and education.

One education measure came in for an attack by Paul L. Adams, a Rochester college dean and Conservative party candidate, who reiterated his opposition to state aid for private or parochial schools.

Adams warned a radio audience that state funds to buy textbooks for children attending non-public schools could lead eventually to the state's deciding what books would be used in those schools.

Both Adams and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., the Liberal party's candidate for governor, sought votes Tuesday in the New York City area.

Roosevelt told a Bronx street rally that, if there had been an open primary this year, O'Connor would not have been named the Democratic flag-bearer. Instead, Roosevelt said, he would have won it.

"You voters should decide who will run and not the bosses," he asserted.

NATO Talks Set

LBJ Will Find Aussies, Yanks Are Alike on Viet

By GORDON TAIT

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — When President Johnson comes here, he will find Australians think much the same as Americans about the Viet Nam conflict. Many dislike it. Some think Australians just have to be in it, others that they should be out of it.

Australia has 4,500 men in South Viet Nam, including two headquarters staff. Advisers have been there since 1962.

73 Killed

Over-all, about 7,000 Australians have been through Saigon and of these 73 have been killed in action, one is missing and 327 wounded.

Among those in Viet Nam are draftees conscripted at the age of 20. This is especially a sore point with many Australians, who traditionally believe only volunteers should be sent out of the country.

Even in World War II, only volunteers were sent farther away than New Guinea and other nearby islands that shielded Australia. But there were plenty of volunteers and Australians fought in all theaters, counted casualties of 23,365 dead, 6,030 missing, 39,803 wounded with 26,363 more taken prisoners.

The country's population then was under eight million. Today it is around 11.6 million.

Seek Differently

As many of these citizens see it the situation in South Viet Nam is a different proposition from World War II when Australians felt they were fighting for survival.

Newspapers have said in editorials in the past few days that Johnson will find a strong majority of people opposed to America's policy in Viet Nam.

Johnson almost certainly will see demonstrators against the war. The feeling is especially strong among those who have a stake in it — those liable to draft, and those close to them.

Leave Us Alone

NEW DELHI (AP) — American intervention in Indo-Pakistan affairs is more dangerous than that of the Communist Chinese, K. D. Balaviya, a Congress Party member of Parliament told a public forum. He said relations between the two sub-continent neighbors could improve only if the United States, Britain and China left them alone.

More than a million men have been committed to the Vietnamese war by the seven nations whose leaders are meeting in Manila Oct. 24-25. The breakdown:

SOUTH VIET NAM: Total includes 320,000 regular army troops plus regional units, militia, special forces and combat police.

UNITED STATES: Troops scheduled to arrive during October will raise total to 325,000 by month's end.

SOUTH KOREA: One full combat division plus other combat and support elements.

AUSTRALIA: Combat brigade and support forces.

PHILIPPINES: Military engineers unit and support elements.

NEW ZEALAND: Artillery battery and engineers detachment.

THAILAND: Military air detachment. Thailand also makes available vital air bases for U.S. Air Force operations over Viet Nam.

In addition to Manila, President Johnson's schedule includes visits to New Zealand, Australia, Malaysia, South Korea

State Will Spend $5 Million for Art At Albany Mall

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State plans to spend $5 million for art to decorate the South Mall state offices complex now under construction, the Albany Times-Union reported today.

That amount will come out of the $70 million earmarked for the superstructure of the 700 by 1,200 - foot platform, the paper said.

A spokesman for Gov. Rockefeller said Tuesday the governor has had preliminary discussions with a three-man advisory commission on art in the project, but, "as yet, we don't have their recommendations."

Commissioner members are Wallace K. Harrison, chief architect of the $480-million project, Seymour H. Knox, chairman of the State Council on the Arts, and Rene D'Harnoncourt, director of the Museum of Modern Art.

A spider has four pairs of legs, an insect has only three.

Approves Flatcars

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Erie-Lackawanna Railroad has permission to buy 50 flatcars at a cost of $950,000.

The State Public Service Commission Tuesday approved the railroad's plan to buy the cars from the Greenville Steel Car Co. of Greenville, Pa. The railraod will pay $3,800 for each of the cars on delivery and the balance in 20 semi - annual payments beginning Aug. 1.

The cars cost $19,000 each and are to be delivered between Nov. 1, 1966 and March 31, 1967.

Minor Ills Take Toll of Marines In Battle Areas

By JOHN LENGEL

DONG HA, South Viet Nam (AP) — An assortment of comparatively minor ills is taking Marines from the field as surely as workers are kept from the factory and children from school.

Medical men at an advanced field hospital near the demilitarized zone say an average of five Marines a day are evacuated with scrapes, breaks and maladies either aggravated by the tropical climate or caused by carelessness.

Can Return

After five to seven days of treatment the men are usually well enough to return to combat, the doctors say.

A typical Marine must stay on his toes.

He can slip jumping from a helicopter or climbing a muddy trail. Under 50 pounds of pack and weapons, this could mean a strain or badly wrenched knee.

A brush against a thorny vine or elephant grass slashes the clothes or cuts the skin.

"They're dirty, real dirty. After two days in the field the bacteria count on their skin is tremendous. Minor cuts get badly infected," a doctor said.

If the Marine fails to pace himself, he faces exhaustion or possible heat stroke.

Infection lurks in the water the trooper splashes through.

"The water is contaminated by human feces, and corpses a lot of the time, too. This infects and aggravates athletes foot and ingrown toe nails. A Marine should take his boots off at night to help things," the doctor says.

A drink of bad water almost certainly causes worms in the stomach as well as diarrhea.

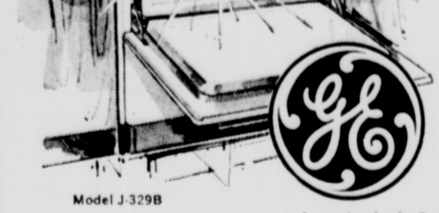

Even if the Marine keeps fit and clean, he runs the danger of contracting the commonest crippler, malaria.

And there is always the enemy.

UCCC Art Gallery Has New Exhibit; Closes October 29

"The Artist: Visage and Vision," the second exhibition in the continuing Art Series of the Visual Arts Program of Ulster County Community College, opened Monday, Oct. 10, and will close Oct. 29.

The exhibition is on view in Gallery Hall on the third floor at the college, 214 West Chestnut Street, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. weekdays.

Professor Ruth Muroff, A.I.D., coordinator of the arts, cordially invites community students and friends to visit the college to see this unusual display.

The exhibition attempts to show that American art has come of age. It is now a mature, international concern and the past dozen years have seen the art of this country exported to all parts of the world, exerting a new influence into those nations originally instrumental in exporting their own aesthetic canons to our shores. The painters and sculptors so beautifully photographed in this exhibit are among those responsible for this accomplishment.

The 20 display panels seek to give insight into the contemporary art world through photographic portraits of artists, exhibited with reproductions of their work, direct quotations from them, and brief biographical sketches. Among the artists included in the exhibition are Hans Hofmann, Stuart Davis, Franz Kline, Josef Alberts, Philip Guston and Louise Nevelson.

The portraits forming the nucleus of this exhibition are works that present Marvin P. Lazarus as one of America's finest photographers. The opportunity to select from Mr. Lazarus' great portfolio gave birth to the concept of this exhibition.

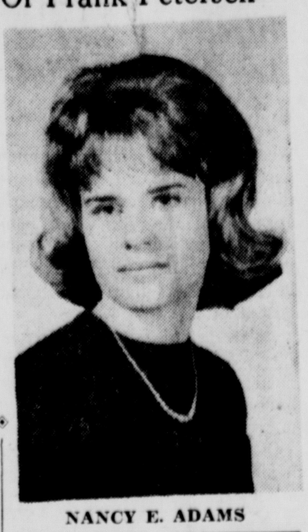

The combination of the portraits and reproductions was planned to enhance the knowledge of those familiar with American art and to serve as an introduction for those who have not had such an opportunity.

Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, in cooperation with the New York State Council on the Arts, currently is circulating this exhibition.

'Nettie Thompson Day' on Thursday at YW; Program Will Honor Noted Civic Leader

Mrs. Frank W. Thompson of 256 West Chestnut Street, Kingston, first woman to serve on the local Board of Education and the moving spirit behind the founding of the Kingston YWCA, will be honored at a reception on Thursday at 2:15 p. m. in the local YW, 209 Clinton Avenue.

The day has been set aside as "Nettie Thompson Day" and all charter members of the YWCA will be present for the occasion. Mrs. Lloyd LeFever will be in charge of the tea and Mrs. Deweese DeWitt will present flowers to the guests of honor. A document, the text of which has been prepared by lecturer Frederic Snyder, will be presented to Mrs. Thompson and music will be provided by Mrs. Jesse Maxon.

Mrs. Thompson was born in Solomons Island, Calvert County, Maryland. An alumna of St. Mary's College, class of 1904, she taught in the Calvert County public schools for several years. After her marriage to Frank W. Thompson of Kingston, she served as a substitute teacher in the Kingston Schools. Mrs. Thompson is the former Nettie Marsh.

In 1920, Mrs. Thompson was elected president of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs, an organization which affiliated with the New York State Clubs in 1921. During her term of office as president the Home for the Aged was established (Feb. 21, 1920) and Mrs. Thompson appointed Mr. and Mrs. Everett Flower chairmen of the project. The first home was located on Green Street and a new building was later constructed on Washington Avenue, site of the Home today.

It was in December 1922 at a meeting of the executive committee of the Federation that Chief of Police J. Allen Wood asked Mrs. Thompson to spearhead the organization of a local YWCA. With the assistance of area clubs, churches, business, religious and civic organizations, the YW came into being and Mrs. Thompson served four terms as a member of its board of directors. She now serves the YWCA as a member of the board of trustees.

Active in other groups as well, Mrs. Thompson has served on the board of directors for the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross, serving 20 years has a volunteer worker and chairman of the eighth ward. She was a volunteer worker for the Board of Child Welfare of Kingston sponsored by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

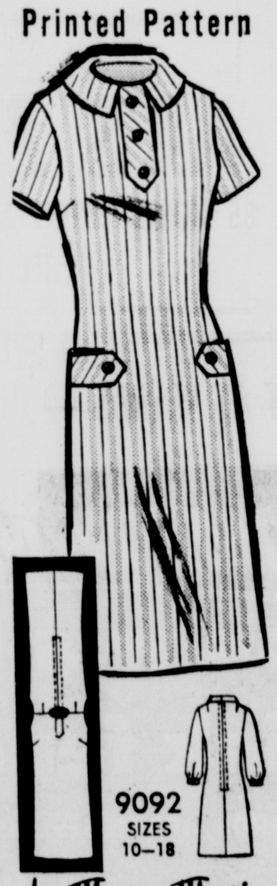

Mrs. Thompson has three children: Mrs. T. Druding of Orlando, Fla.; John S. Thompson of Scarborough, New York, president of Crompton-Richman Textiles; and Frank W. Thompson Jr., New York State Inspector of Meats and Markets, Kingston. Mrs. Thompson has three grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

About her years of volunteer work in this area Mrs. Thompson says:

"It has been a privilege, a pleasure and an education to serve my City. I love its mountains, the waterways and its historical heritage. May we always be mindful of that heritage and be thankful for the present and hopeful for the future.

"Let each one in our city strive to contribute toward making it a better place in which to live."

Mrs. Thompson has certainly done her share. A "Nettie Thompson Day" at the YWCA on Thursday is small payment indeed but it carries with it the gratitude and thanks of the entire area.

We the Women

Eye-Opener for Bride-to-Be

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Memo to the engaged-to-be-married:

"The best divorce is a terminated courtship," says a psychologist who has made a study of why marriages fail.

So while there is still time for a breakup without a divorce, maybe you girls who are wearing engagement rings had better ask yourselves a few important questions:

- Is the main reason I got engaged the fact that most of my friends are either engaged or married and I was beginning to worry about being left behind?
- Do we seem to quarrel more than other engaged couples that we know?
- Do I dislike members of my finance's family, including his parents?
- Do I ever have the feeling that he is not being honest with me?
- Would I feel that I had made a mistake in marrying him if it should turn out that I married him for poorer, rather than for richer?
- Is he so jealous that it sometimes frightens me?
- Do we disagree about the kind of life we want to live and how we think children should be reared?
- Does he take it for granted that I will go on working indefinitely after we are married?
- Does he hate his job and still is not making any plans for getting into work that he likes better?
- Is he often critical of the things I do and say?

A few "Yes" answers to those 10 questions ought to make a girl wonder if she has really found the right man or if she has been a bit hasty in grabbing whatever was available. The time to figure this out is NOW.

Paltz Student Body Reaches 3476 Total

Close to 3,500 full-time students have enrolled at State University College, New Paltz, for the fall quarter. Another 950 part-time student registration gives the College a record total enrollment of over 4,400, the Registrar's office announced today.

Full-time students number 3,476, up 224 over last year. The figure includes 97 graduate students, an increase of 13 over 1965. Total full-time and part-time enrollment is 4,425.

Male students gained about 1 per cent again this year, with the male-female ratio now almost exactly 2-3. The College has 1,408 men and 2,068 women.

The ratio of men to women 22 years ago at the time retiring President William J. Haggerty came to the College was 1-20, when New Paltz had 17 men and 339 women. Dr. Haggerty will retire from the presidency on January 1 to become a consultant for the State University on the growth and transition of publicly-owned colleges from their former teacher college status to their present-day significance as Liberal Arts colleges.

The straight Liberal Arts program at New Paltz, for those who do not wish to become teachers, continues to attract far more men than women. This fall 42 per cent of the men are enrolled in the study programs not designed for future teachers. But only 14 per cent of the women are taking the courses which do not lead to teacher certification. However, all students, whether in the teaching program or not, must major in a Liberal Arts subject, with future teachers taking in addition the professional education courses required for New York State teaching certificates.

Miss Lauren Winne Will Attend College Leadership Meeting

Hartwick College recently released the names of specially selected students to participate in the second consecutive Campus Leadership Conference. The three day program, sponsored by the American Management Association, was held at Camp Enterprise, Hamilton, New York.

Lauren Winne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Winne, 280 Washington Avenue, was the only freshman selected to represent the entire Freshman Class.

Hartwick College is a private, co-educational institution located at Oneonta, New York. The student enrollment this year is 1400. Key student leaders of this enrollment were involved in a program providing an opportunity to study the tools and skills of effective leadership. The conference, under the direction of Dr. Herbert C. Hayward, professor of Management and Behavioral Scientist at the college of Business, University of Akron, and the AMA staff, accomplished this study through workshops and seminars in which actual case studies were investigated.

Father-Son Weekend Set for Oct. 22-23 At Fairfield Univ.

Fairfield University's fifth annual Father-Son Weekend, featuring a full schedule of lectures, a student court demonstration, a football game (Fairfield U. vs. Marist College), a banquet, a variety show, and a communion breakfast, has been set for October 22 and 23, according to Stanley Robertson, Director of Development at the University.

General chairman for the weekend is John D. Higgins, of 39 Law Street, Valley Stream, New York, father of Fairfield University junior John Higgins. The weekend activities are designed to incorporate the fathers of the undergraduates in a more active manner to the "Fairfield family," noted Chairman Higgins.

The weekend, which will get underway with registration at 9 a. m., October 22, is sponsored by Fairfield University in cooperation with the University's Fathers' Council, under the presidency of Walter Donnaruma of Kingston, New York.

Following registration, the weekend guests will attend a lecture series, hear an address by Fairfield University president, the Very Rev. William C. McInnes, S.J., participate in a business meeting and be treated to a buffet luncheon before the 2 p. m. kick-off of the football club's tilt against Marist.

An afternoon of informal activity, a banquet, and an evening variety show, highlighted by the talents of fathers and sons alike, will close off Saturday's schedule.

The weekend will end Sunday with a mass in the recently-renovated Loyola Chapel, a communion breakfast, and an introduction to the Stag basketball teams

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

CADETTE DAY PROGRAM—Cadette Scouts from all areas of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts participated in an all day crafts program at the New Paltz Reformed Church Saturday, Oct. 8. Mrs. Ronald Hill, ingston, printing and stenciling instructor; demonstrates how a matching pair of stencils are used in two color stenciling to Cadette Scouts Allene Lund, Saugerties; Cheryl Bird, Woodstock; Sharon Hoffman, Saugerties; and Corinne Hutchinson, Woodstock. Other crafts included in the program were creative stitching, weaving, dramatics, flower arranging, singing and folk dancing. The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts is one of the 13 participating agencies of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Activities in Art Stressed at Cadette Craft Day at Paltz

The Education Building of the New Paltz Reformed Church was a beehive of interesting activities in the Arts Saturday, as 113 Cadette Girl Scouts of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, and a small group from Dutchess County Council participated in a Cadette Craft Day.

The program started at 9:30 a. m. with an orientation talk by Mrs. Douglas Bartow, who gave detailed instructions to the scouts as to the choice of classes offered to them, outlined the rules of behavior while in the building, and introduced the many instructors participating in the course. Mrs. Ronald Hill, conducted the Flag Ceremony, after which the group divided up into classes for the various interest groups. The scouts were able to avail themselves of two different classes, one in the morning and one in the afternoon, plus an enjoyable lunch time singing program, which included instruction in leading group singing as well as learning songs of interest to scouters.

The entire program was based on Art Activities as they are required for badge work in the various fields of interest in the Girl Scout program and each instructor signed the girl's handbook for the requirements they were able to finish.

Interest groups for the day included folk dancing, led by Miss Gloria Bonali and Miss Yvonne Dempsey, who taught the girls both American and foreign square and round dances and the cues for teaching and calling the dances. Flower arranging was led by Mrs. Charles Stokes and Mrs. Richard Klix, and featured many beautiful floral designs made with dried flowers, fruits and ferns.

The weaving class received their instructions from Mrs. Aldo Argiro and Mrs. Richard Culver and resulted in many beautiful hand woven designs created by the girls. Creative stitchery, was another well attended group where the girls also learned to create beautiful hand work under the guidance of Mrs. Oakley Maynard and Mrs. Jay LeFevre.

The printing and stenciling group taught by Mrs. Ronald Hill and Mrs. Sidney Smith featured many forms of stenciling using silk screens, celluloid stencils, leaf prints, and others. A great deal of the work accomplished by the girls was of a sort that they could take samples of their handicraft home and all will be qualified to pass on some of the things they learn to members of their troops who could not attend.

The committee for the Craft Day included Mrs. Douglas Bartow, chairman; Mrs. Richard Culver and Mrs. Ronald Hill, reservations. Additional thanks was extended to Mrs. Henry Hopper, who conducted the group singing session during the lunch break, and Miss Myrtle Nielson, who made the many looms used by the weaving class.

Each of the girls was asked to write a brief evaluation of the course at the close of the day and a tabulation of those evaluations indicated that all of the girls enjoyed the course and would be interested in other sessions along the same lines as this program.

The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts is a member agency of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Second Straight New Paltz Loss

State University College at New Paltz Hawks soccer team dropped its second straight game Tuesday, losing to Oswego State, 4-2 at the winners field.

A severe blow was dealt to the Hawks championship hopes when goalie Tony DeLuca was taken from the game with an injury. According to a report from a spectator, DeLuca, a sophomore from Long Island, was fielding practice kicks for the New Paltz team before the game started. The whistle blew to start the game but an unidentified Hawks booter got in one extra that bounced off DeLuca's head.

DeLuca started the game but in an attempt to block the first Oswego goal he found he couldn't raise his left arm. He was taken to the Oswego infirmary and later to the New Paltz infirmary. His condition is unknown at this time and he is a doubtful starter for Saturday's game against Cortland at the Hawks field at 2:30 p. m.

Ed Shuster filled in for DeLuca for a period and Bill Riche finished the game at goalie for the Hawks.

Trailed All Way

The Hawks never were ahead in the game as Oswego's Charles Vredenberg booted one home at 9:51 of the first period. Jack Michalac followed with another goal for the winners with 21:55 gone.

The Hawks scored on a Dan Greaves goal with 13:08 gone in the second quarter. All-America Eugene Ventriglia scored at 19:24 in the second period for the Hawks and that was the extent of their scoring.

Carmi Weils added a point for Oswego in the second period with 10:20 gone and Vredenberg finished up the scoring for the afternoon with a goal in the third period with 21:30 gone on the clock.

Tab George Mira Tops on Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — Something about the Green Bay Packers brings out the best in George Mira, the only quarterback in the National Football League with a perfect record against the champions.

Mira beat Green Bay in his rookie year, 1964 and lost to Dallas last season in two previous starts. With John (Million Dollar Arm) Brodie having his troubles, Coach Jack Christiansen decided to give Mira the third starting chance of his pro career last Sunday.

The former University of Miami star scrambled 38 yards on a run that set up the decisive touchdown against the Packers in a 21-20 victory and also threw two TD passes.

Although other quarterbacks made more spectacular yardage and hit for more scores, Mira's performance as a No. 2 boy getting a chance to start against Green Bay, earned recognition as The Associated Press' offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Mira completed nine of 21 for 104 yards, including scoring passes of 27 and eight to John David Crow, and ran for 46 yards on three carries.

"Mira kept us loose all day," Coach Jack Christiansen said. "The way he was running people will be asking me to make a halfback out of him."

Foot Is Back in College Ball

NEW YORK (AP) — When Jerry DePoyster of the University of Wyoming kicked four field goals last Saturday — three of them more than 50 yards out — he did more than set a record of sorts. He also pointed up the rapidly increasing use of field goals in college football.

According to figures released today by the NCAA Service Bureau, the foot is in college football as never before. With the season not yet half over, only four college teams have neither kicked nor yielded field goals. In all, 205 three-pointers have been kicked in 239 major-college games.

DePoyster's two 54-yard and one 52-yard kicks made him the only major collegian in the last 30 years to kick three that far in a career, let alone a single game.

Van's Nip Royals In 'Y' Overtime Fall Game, 89-88

Spartan Pools crushed Spada's Sport Shop, 96-32, but Donnie Van's was forced into overtime to nip Royal Grill, 89-88, in YMCA fall basketball action Tuesday night.

Royal Grill (0-3) tied the regulation game with Donnie's at 79-79 on John Tomanski's foul shot in the last 15 seconds.

Tom Fiore regained the lead for the Royals, 88-87, with 25 seconds remaining but Murphy calmly sank two foul shots to cinch the pulsating victory with 18 seconds remaining.

Next Two Weeks Critical For Pro Football

Expert States Congress Must Act on Merger

Unless Congress puts professional football in the same category as baseball (exemption from anti-trust laws), the future of football as we know it today will be in serious jeopardy.

The Congressional action must come within two weeks, Harry H. Thayer, president of Station WGHQ and long time pro football executive, said in a speech before the Kingston Lions Club Tuesday.

If Congress adjourns this session without House of Representative approval of a measure already adopted by a voice vote in the U. S. Senate, the structure of pro football will be in big trouble Thayer said.

The target date for adjournment is Oct. 22.

Football Commissioner Pete Rozelle said there would be no merger of the NFL and AFL unless Congress legalizes it. He also said there can be no "world championship" between the leagues without approval of the merger.

Rep. Emmanuel Celler of New York has withheld action up to this time in the House.

Resumption of Warfare

"If Congress fails to act on this 'marriage' between the National and American football leagues," the radio executive said, "then we'll have a redemption of open warfare between the two leagues for bonus players and this will eventually lead to financial disaster.

Payrolls and other expenses involved in the operation of a professional team are so great these days that clubs can't break even on sellouts, said Thayer. If the tremendous revenues from television were ever reduced, or cut in half, the sport would be in serious financial trouble.

Thayer warned that anything that might upset football's high rating on the TV screens would be a grave mistike. Open warfare between the leagues and its attendant lawsuits could bring this about, he said. That is why Congressional approval of the AFL-NFL merger is so crucial at this time.

He noted that each team in the National Football League receives $1,200,000 annually from the TV melon. It now costs $70,000 a minute for a commercial on NFL television.

Winning teams are making big money today but none of the teams could survive any appreciable reduction in television revenue, said Thayer, who strongly approves of the proposed merger.

Great Leveller

The merger, with its common draft, will level off the calibre of football so that dynasties such as the Giants, Bears, Redskins, Packers could no longer dominate the sport. The image of the game would be improved and dozens of disastrous lawsuits now pending would never reach the courts. Anything less would lead to resumption of the blood letting that in due time would destroy the sport.

Other observations by Thayer in his interesting, informative speech: Under NFL rules corporate groups cannot own a team, in the AFL they can . . . John Brodie of the San Francisco 49ers has a million dollar contract in his pocket. Somebody is going to have to pay it . . . Pro football is the nation's No. 1 sport from the standpoint of spectator interest . . . The Denver franchise is in trouble, with 27,000 seating capacity and $30,000 guarantee to the visiting teams . . . He signed Allie Sherman, Giant coach, to his first pro contract fresh out of Brooklyn College in 1946. Sherman, a keen student of the game, is as good a coach as there is in the sport. The Giants simply don't have the horses and are woefully weak at tackles—offensive and defensive—the heart of any team . . . Earl Morrall, who has knocked around for 10 years, simply is not a big time quarterback and that's hurting the Giants.

The Early Days

Thayer, who served as general manager for the Philadelphia Eagles and former Los Angeles Dons, recalled that the Eagles' first TV contract with Philco brought the princely sum of $3,000; the radio rights, $10,000 . . . Radio rights are now $70,000 . . . Lexis Thompson purchased the Philadelphia franchise for $300,000 in 1946. The last franchise sold in the NFL involved $10,000,000 . . . There is room for two professional leagues but not with unending bonus wars . . . Steve VanBuren, former Philly backfield great, was as "great as Jimmy Brown." Was signed by Thayer in a Chicago hospital for $500 bonus and earned $4,500 in his first season. Amount of bonuses received by college stars are exaggerated but many still run into "big six figures" . . . Chicago Bears acquired the great Sid Luckman when another team, strapped for money, sold its first draft choice to the Bears for $3,000. "Luckman was the greatest passer of all time."

Arlington Tops Saugerties, Beacon in Cross Country Race

Arlington High School was hardly the generous host as its cross country team soundly trounced two visitors Tuesday at the Arlington field. The Admirals won the triangular meet with 19 points as compared to 45 for Beacon and 74 for Saugerties.

The Arlington squad is being heralded as one of the finest in local cross country history. They recently bombed Newburgh and placed four runners in the top five finishers yesterday. Harold Murch was the winner with a time of 13:56 over the 2.5 course considered pretty tough by area coaches.

Although beaten soundly the Sawyers have a good future in cross country. The team is young with mostly freshmen and sophomores on the squad. There is only one senior running. In about two years the Sawyers should gain revenge against the lopsided Arlington victory yesterday.

Army Victory Over Rutgers Would Equal Total in 1965

WEST POINT — Army will have a chance to match the victory record of the past two seasons this Saturday when the Cadets travel to New Brunswick to meet Rutgers in what is billed as the biggest game in Rutgers football history.

The Cadets enter the fray with a 3-1 record, Notre Dame stopping the victory streak last Saturday at South Bend, Ind. But the best they have been able to do the past two seasons was four victories, a goal they didn't reach until the last game in 1964 and the next-to-last one in 1965.

It is another sellout as far as crowds go, and Rutgers officials have ordered temporary stands to be erected to accommodate the crowd which will overflow the 23,200 capacity stadium.

The Collegiate Football Hall of Fame, to be located in the shadow of the Rutgers Stadium, will be started Saturday morning with a ground-breaking ceremony. Target date for completion is 1969, the 100th anniversary of college football.

What Coach Tom Cahill will do in this game is an open question. He saw his first offense and defensive units troubled by the strong Notre Dame team in the first half. But his second offensive unit operated well against the Notre Dame defense and his defense halted the Irish second unit in the final half. Coach Cahill sent more players into this game than the previous three, no less than six Cadets getting their first college action at South Bend.

While he is expected to stick with two units which opened the game, there is a good chance that a lot of Army players will go against the Scarlet Knights.

This series goes back to 1891, the second year that Army played football. Rutgers won the opening games 27-6, but the Cadets took the next six. Last year the rivalry was renewed after a 51-year lapse as Army won, 23-6.

Rutgers opened the season with a loss to Princeton, but bounced back with wins over Yale and Lehigh, all three games played away from home. This will be the season opener for Rutgers, adding a little more fuel to the gridiron bonfire.

A win for Rutgers will also match their 1965 victory output. Those Knights, the Scarlet variety, had a 3-6 season while the Black Knights from the Hudson could do no better than 4-5-1.

Catie Ball, 15, May Be Too Old For '68 Olympics

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Little Catie Ball is just 15 and already she is worrying about being an old woman by the time of the 1968 Olympics.

"I'm dying to compete in the Olympics," the frail-looking national breast-stroke swimming champion from Jacksonville, Fla., said today, "but you can't count on anything.

"In two years, there'll be a lot of other young kids wanting to make the Olympic team as badly as I do and I may be too old."

Catie is a member of the blue ribbon U.S. swimming and diving team — seven women and seven men — who will begin competition Thursday in the Little Olympics, a preview of the 1968 show.

All are national champions.

Baby of the water squad is Catie, a blonde 110-pounder who looks as if she should be at home cutting out paper dolls or watching the cartoon shows on television.

Instead, she's a poised international veteran who is distraught because she doesn't get a crack this week at the Russian world-record-holder in the women's breast stroke, Galina Prozumenshikova.

Miss Prozumenshikova swam the 100 meters breast-stroke in 1:15.7 and the 200 in 2:44.6. Miss Ball won the U.S. titles at Lincoln, Neb., in August in 1:16.3 and the 200 in 2:44.8.

"Catie is probably the best woman breast-stroke swimmer in the world but she just hasn't been pushed," said Harry Hainsworth, who directs the swimming program for the Amateur Athletic Union.

Falcons Taking Losses in Stride

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons may be down, but neither their coach nor their owner is ready to count them out.

"Our players still believe they can beat somebody," Coach Norb Hecker says. "We'll have to quit making mistakes to do it, but I'm not disappointed with the way things have gone."

Rankin Smith, majority stockholder of the new National Football League team, also says he's not dismayed by five straight losses and no victories.

"We could go all year without winning a game in our first season," Smith said. "Nobody expected the Falcons to win a bunch of games this year."

The Falcons drew 56,990 in their last home game, and hope to top that total Sunday against invading San Francisco.

Hecker said failure to win a game hasn't hurt the morale of the Atlanta players.

"They believe they are going to win some games," he said.

• Around the Horn:

Bowling still suffers badly in publicity on the national level. Teata Semiz's 867, second highest series in bowling history, went virtually unnoticed. The New Jersey ace did it with 299, 268, 300 . . . Don Carter, the bowling great of the early 1960's, is on the comeback trail. He rolled 300 in recent Dallas tournament and competes in PBA Nationals Nov. 1-6 at Garden City, L. I. . . . Phylis Notaro, Buffalo, rolled 703 in final set of US Women's Doubles championship she won with Jessi Miller. Their 1288 three-game set and 9552 pinfall were all-time records. . . Cora Lowther, 17-year-old Poughkeepsie gal rolled new Bridge City record of 288 last week, breaking former record off 280 set by Rosemary Losee in 1963 . . . Gus Vaselekos rolled 716 in Queen City Industrial . . . . Miss Joan Holm of Chicago, a member of the 1966 WIBC team champion Gossard Girls, maintained a 207 average during the 1965-66 season, highest among the 2.8 million members of the WIBC.

Locals Seeking 1st Win Over Port Since '60 Season

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Winless in two starts against a pair of tough opponents, the Red Raiders of Port Jervis invade Dietz Stadium Friday to oppose Kingston in the opening game of the DUSO Football season. The contest will get underway at 8 p. m.

Coached by Joe Viglione, Port Jervis shows a 7-6 loss to Nyack of the Rockland County League and a 19-13 defeat to Norwich. In both games, a costly mistake was made and it cost the Porters a victory each time.

The Raiders have their usual trademark — light and quick. They try to run as many plays as possible in the shortest time.

Quarterback Tom Gastmeyer, a second stringer last year, is the key to the offense. He's a good passer and an excellent runner.

Viglione likes to run the flanks and also has his quarterbacks throw screen passes and work with traps and draw plays.

Two Straight Shutouts

Kingston hasn't defeated the Raiders since 1960. In the five games since then, Port has won four and tied one. The last two victories have been via shutouts—6-0 in 1964 and 19-0 last season.

Though the Orange County school was idle last Saturday, Viglione and his staff scouted Newburgh and bypassed Kingston's 13-6 win over Poughkeepsie. He is either taking the locals too lightly or feels he learend enough by scouting the opening game win over Albany.

Coach Bill Hurley said the KHS eleven is in good physical shape for the upcoming DUSO opener. Center Russ Suppies aggravated an ankle injury against Poughkeepsie. If he isn't able to go at top speed, then Jim Esposito will get the starting nod at center.

Tackle Matt Weishaupt, who missed the Poughkeepsie tilt, will return to play against Port.

Kingston played only as hard as it had to in beating the Pioneers. after a rough game the previous week at New Rochelle and with the Raiders to be met this week, the Maroon squad could have been caught thinking ahead just a little.

With only four clubs in the DUSO, just three league games are played and a loss practically eliminates a team from pennant contention.

NFA At Middletown

The other DUSO squads will also see action Saturday with Newburgh playing at Middletown. Both teams have 1-1 marks and the Middies will be out to break a jinx against coach Rip Fornal's Goldbacks.

Saturday's UCAL slate has Liberty at New Paltz, Wallkill at Pine Bush, Rondout at Onteora and Highland at Marlboro. In the DCSL, Arlington plays at Roosevelt in a battle of the unbeatens; Beacon is at Wappingers and Saugerties at Poughkeepsie. New York Military plays at Cardinal Farley Military in a non-league engagement.

Michigan State, Irish Among Saturday Picks

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP) — Another roll of the football dice, the kind that come up with seven points — like in a touchdown — every time.

Last week there were too many snake eyes for a .667 average.

Michigan State over Ohio State: Because Bob Apisa, Bubba Smith and Jimmy Raye all play for the Spartans.

Notre Dame over North Carolina: Jim Seymour and Terry Hanratty, the sophomore battery, are making the Irish contenders for national honors.

Alabama over Tennessee: The Crimson Tide has yielded one touchdown but has won all three of its games. Tennessee hasn't given up a single touchdown but has lost one of three games. With pure illogical reasoning, Alabama.

South California over Stanford: Far too many Trojans.

Nebraska over Kansas State: Harry Wilson is the reason.

UCLA over Penn State: The Pennsylvanians will discover that Gary Beban has a lot of competent helpers.

Tech Over Auburn

Georgia Tech over Auburn: The Engineers beat Tennessee last Saturday although the Volunteers had the better statistics, so there is no reason for them being on Cloud 9 for this one.

Florida over North Carolina State: Steve Spurrier will keep the Gators on the unbeaten list.

Purdue over Michigan: The Boilermakers' only loss has been to Notre Dame, and Bob Griese won't allow another stain on the record.

Air Force over Oregon: The fly boys are really flying.

Texas over Arkansas: Both teams were upset last Saturday but the Texans, playing before the home folks, will recover quickly.

Miami over Georgia: In the dark of the night, too.

Houston over Mississippi State: Warren McVea, the Houston speedster, is living up to all his press clippings.

Syracuse over Boston College: Even if Syracuse has to play without Floyd Little it should have enough to sneak past the Bostonians.

Lead Everything

NEW YORK (AP) — The high flying Dallas Cowboys aren't unbeaten in four National Football League games by mistake. They lead the league in both total offense and defense.

The Cowboys have gained 1,047 yards while allowing 1,139 yards in compiling a 4-0 Eastern Conference record, according to league statistics released today.

Atlanta Hoping New Soccer Style Kicker Will Help

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons will put some pressure on an untested soccer-style kicker from the island of Cyprus today, hoping he may be the answer to Coach Norb Hecker's dream for a long-range field goal specialist.

Garo Sarkis Yepremian, who came to the United States from Cyprus only four months ago, proved to Hecker Tuesday that he has impressive credentials.

"He's not very big—5-foot-8, 165 pounds—but he was knocking them in consistently from 55 yards in a practice session," Hecker said.

The Falcons, winless after five games in their first National Football League season, have had plenty of troubles with field goal kickers—theirs and those of other teams.

Last Sunday they were holding their own with the Washington Redskins until Charley Gogolak, the Redskins' Hungarian soccer-style kicker, connected for two field goals in the third quarter, one from 45 yards out.

Hecker has tested a number of kickers since he put the team together in training camp.

The duties have fallen on Wade Traynham, who has been consistent in practice but is hampered by a thigh injury, and Lou Kirouac, who is accurate from short distances and even booted a 47-yard field goal against the Redskins.

Ferraro, Kennelly Top Pins

Jack Ferraro rolled over the 200 mark in four straight games for an 871 foursome in the Mid-City Classic last night. He rolled games of 227, 234, 208 and 202.

Runnerup was Larry Petersen with 866, featuring highs of 224, 215 and 248.

Fred Zimmerman of Kingston Booster led the three-game division with 612.

Mary Kennelly of Bowlerama Quads edged Sis Balash of Sangi's Bowlerettes, 591-590 for female honors. She fired games of 224, 184, 183.

Sis Balash put together games of 213, 200, 177 in the Quads. Kathy DeCicco shot 556 and Carolyn Enright had 547 in the Bowlerama Quads.

Mary Kennelly's 591 is a new high series record for the Quads, eclipsing Rose Schatzel's 581. Carolyn Enright's 235 is also a new record, bettering the old mark of 223 held by Martha Petersen. It was also a career high for Carolyn.

Other league leaders:

Bill Crosby, Central Rec., 596.

Ed Cherny, Rosendale Lanes, 565.

Ray Hendricks, Automotive, 595.

Leo Smith, Colonial City, 587.

Lucille Steen, Ladies Booster, 485.

Fred Zimmerman, Kingston Booster, 612.

Mike Childs, Ferraro Boosters, 608.

Pete Esposito, Frontier, 582.

Pete Fondino, Monday Night Mixed, 584.

San Jose Back Tops Collegians

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Danny Holman had a football in his hands when he was 3 years old.

Seventeen years later his job is to get it into the hands of someone else, and he does it so well he's been named collegiate Back of the week by The Associated Press.

Holman, San Jose State's quarterback, weighs 168. Standing 6-feet 2-inches, he still resembles a stringbean.

California's Bears feel like the giant at the top of the bean - stalk. Favored to beat San Jose State, they fell Saturday 24-0, the first time in seven games against their neighborhood foes.

With 216 yards through the air against Cal, Holman continued to lead the nation's collegiate passers with 1,022 yards.

The quarterback's father, the late Art Holman, starred as a hurdler at the University of Oregon and introduced his youngster to athletics early.

In the first half against California, Danny completed 11 of 25 passes for 126 yards and finished with 20 for 37, gaining 216 yards and throwing for two touchdowns.

Neutrality Theory

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Thailand official says the neutralization of Southeast Asia is dangerous because of the inability of the countries concerned to protect their neutrality.

"Neutrality is a good word, but one must have strength enough to protect his neutrality. Without strength, it does not amount to much," Pote Sarasin, national planning minister, said Tuesday at a National Press Club luncheon.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., has urged neutralization as a means of restoring peace to Southeast Asia. His suggestion followed a study undertaken for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by four Princeton professors that recommended neutralization.

Note Viet Bonus Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed and sent to the House a bill that would give a bonus 30-day leave at home or elsewhere to servicemen who volunteer to extend their one-year tour of duty in Viet Nam.

The U.S. military command in Viet Nam had sought the leave and paid transportation to the United States and back as an incentive for servicemen to extend their tours at least six months.

The Senate approved the request Tuesday by a 68-2 vote.

Extend School Milk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed a $545.5-million child nutrition act extending for four years the school milk program and launching a plan to provide school breakfasts for needy children.

Johnson signed the measure Tuesday and said it was "a memorable day for the children of America." He said the bill would provide school lunch and breakfast for thousands of children not in present school lunch programs.

The President had sought to cut back the school milk program, but Congress authorized $465 million to extend it through June 30, 1967.

Bennie McRae To Man on Defense

CHICAGO (AP) — "McRae killed us," said Baltimore Colt Coach Don Shula.

Bennie McRae, Chicago Bears' cornerback, pulled off the neatest job of banditry of the National Football League season Sunday.

The mustachioed former Big Ten hurdles champion from Michigan stole two passes aimed by Johnny Unitas to the great flanker, Jimmy Orr, and batted down three others from his outstretched arms.

One interception came as McRae flashed in front of the startled Orr seven yards deep inside the end zone, grabbed the well-aimed pass and returned it to the Bear 46 before Unitas desperately knocked him off balance.

All this helped add up to a 27-17 victory for the Bears who recognized McRae's finest game by awarding him the football. He also was named The Associated Press' Defensive Player of the Week in the NFL.

Prospects Ease For Grid Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prospects have brightened for legislation to permit merger of the National and American Football Leagues.

Fresh hope appeared Tuesday when Rep. Emanuel Celler, chairman of an antitrust subcommittee, indicated he could go along with a strictly limited antitrust exemption for an NFL-AFL merger.

But the New York Democrat and NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle must agree on the exact language for the exemption. And exchanges between the two at a subcommittee hearing Tuesday indicated there could be some difficulties.

Celler asked Rozelle afterward to return Thursday for more questioning. The antitrust division of the Justice Department is to be represented at that session.

Rozelle told Celler at Tuesday's hearing that he is seeking only exemption for the act of merger—not for operation of the merged leagues.

Stethoscopes Busy In Mexico City Meet

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Stethoscopes rivaled stop watches for attention today as athletes from 16 countries opened Mexico's second Little Olympics.

All but six of the 22 foreign countries entered in what is officially known as the second International Sports Week were to compete in the first day events of cycling and gymnastics.

The main reason for this pre-Olympic meet is to give athletes and trainers a look at competition in Mexico City's 7,347-foot altitude. So some of the athletes have been checked closer by doctors than by timers.

By the time the sports week ends Oct. 20 there will have been international competition in track and field, canoeing, fencing, swimming, boxing, wrestling, volleyball and modern pentathlon as well as the events which started today.

Burglary Hearing Charging Local Youth Adjourned

Charged with third degree burglary and second degree assault, Frank J. Torrisi, 20, of 95 East Chester Street, today appeared before City Judge Hubert A. Richter with Attorney Sherwood E. Davis and received an adjournment until Friday.

Judge Richter fixed bail at $5,000 cash or $10,000 property bond. In lieu of bail Torrisi was returned to the county jail. A motion by defense counsel to dismiss the charges on the grounds the information did not constitute a crime, was denied after Robert A. MacKinnon, assistant district attorney, objected and contended the facts in the information did warrant the charges.

George L. Greenridge, 16, of 64 Van Buren Street, who was arrested by Patrolman Albert Brown early Monday morning, accused of participating in the alleged burglary at Spada's Sport Shop, 594 Broadway, previously was adjourned for preliminary hearing.

Officer Brown alleged in his complaint that Torrisi pointed a 16-guage shotgun at him. Brown fired his service revolver at Torrisi but the bullet deflected off the thick glass and missed the youth.

Returns After Ordeal

NEW YORK (AP) — A former Hungarian freedom fighter has returned to his Somerset, N.J., home after six months imprisonment in Hungary which he says grew out of his arrest on a traffic violation.

"Oh, am I glad to be home. I thought I'd never get out," said Ernest Nemeth, 34, as he arrived in New York by plane Tuesday night from Austria.

Nemeth, a cabinet maker who came to the United States in 1956 with his wife Rose, said he was visiting relatives when Hungarian police arrested him for driving at night with his high beams turned on.

When he protested after paying a $25 fine, he was charged with inciting riot and sentenced to nine months in jail. An appeal reduced the term by three months.

Home Life Burdensome

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Edgar N. Eisenhower, 77, the older brother of the former president, has filed a divorce suit against his wife Lucille on the grounds of "burdensome home life."

Eisenhower, an attorney, asked a Tacoma, Wash., court to restrain his wife, at one time his secretary, from using the Eisenhower name.

The couple, married in 1950, have no children. It is Eisenhower's third marriage. His first marriage ended in divorce and his second wife died in 1948.

Alston Is Voted Manager of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Alston of Los Angeles was named the National League's Manager of the Year for the fourth time in an Associated Press poll today. This past season he led the Dodgers to their sixth pennant during his 13-year tenure.

Alston received 206 votes in the annual AP poll of baseball writers. Harry Walker of Pittsburgh was second with 130 votes and West Westrum of the New York Mets was third with 16. A total of 380 writers participated in the balloting based on the regular season.

The Dodgers' skipper also was the NL's Manager of the Year in 1955, 1959 and 1965.

A 54-year-old former schoolteacher from Darrtown, Ohio, Alston made a success of one of his most challenging assignments in 1966. The Dodgers, who batted a collective .256 and whose 606 runs scored topped only two other teams in the league, did not clinch the pennant until their final game.

Hank Bauer, who directed the Baltimore Orioles to their first American League pennant, was named that circuit's Manager of the Year earlier this week.

They're helping make this point:
Magazines that specialize in a single subject - whether it's sports, fashion, business or bringing up babies - do an outstanding job of covering their special field. The daily newspaper does an outstanding job of covering every field every day. How do we do everything at once? Our own expert reporters track down everything that's going on right here. ### Students Accuse Sukarno

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — While troops with bayonets stood guard, thousands of students demonstrated Tuesday against President Sukarno in Medan, the capital of Sumatra.

The students took over the streets for three hours, accusing Sukarno of leading the attempted Communist coup last October and demanding that he be put on trial. It was the third such turnout in Medan since Oct. 8.

Troops and police closed in on the student leaders around noon and arrested several.

On Saturday, the Provincial Parliament in Medan accused Sukarno of favoring the Communist party and demanded that he explain his actions.

'Hot Line' Halts Outbreak

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian and Pakistani army chiefs used a new "hot line" telephone Tuesday to halt four days of sporadic shooting along the border in disputed Kashmir, Indian sources report.

It was the first serious outbreak of shooting since India and Pakistan signed a peace agreement at Tashkent in the Soviet Union last January.

Square Under Water

VENICE, Italy (AP) — Famed St.Mark's Square in the heart of this city of canals was under water today from an unusually high tide driven in by north Adriatic storm winds.

Venetians and tourists threaded their way cautiously along portable wooden walks that are laid down across the square during periodic floodings.

Discloses Basic

with Prince Souvanna Phouma, neutralist prime minister of Laos, which borders Viet Nam. Thursday afternoon he will speak in Wilmington, Del., at the invitation of local Democrats.

Johnson's formal pronouncement on his plans for Social Security increases was somewhat anticlamatic. Departing from custom, he authorized aides to give newsmen advance word of his proposals late Tuesday.

Four Basic Proposals

Here is how he worded his "four basic proposals," which officials said might be expanded before he sends them to Congress, in his prepared text:

"First and most fundamental: I will recommend to the next Congress an average increase in Social Security benefits of at least 10 per cent — to provide every beneficiary a higher standard of living. I will propose that those in the lowest benefit brackets receive proportionately higher increases.

"Second. I will propose that every worker who has been regularly employed under Social Security for 25 years or more shall be guaranteed a minimum monthly benefit of $100.

"Third. I will recommend specific proposals that will materially increase the income of those under Social Security who continue to work after reaching retirement age. (Benefits now are reduced if a pensioner earns more than $1,500 a year.)

Pressure for Increaes

"Fourth: I will recommend that hospital and medical care coverage be provided not only to the aged, but to the more than one million disabled Social Security beneficiaries."

There has been increasing congressional pressure for higher Social Security benefits. In view of this, several senators indicated Congress is likely to approve Johnson's plan. Some predicted strong efforts to expand on the President's proposals.

Administration officials said the cost of Johnson's "minimum" package would be $2.2 billion and that about $1.5 billion of this could be financed under present and scheduled Social Security taxes.

They said the balance might be funded by a higher pay roll tax, by raising the present $6,600 limit for taxable annual income, or a combination of the two.

be absent at Columbus Day celebrations.

But Senate - House conferees hoped to finish work during the day on three of the remaining "must" bills — food for peace, the $1.75-billion antipoverty measure and the packaging and labeling bill.

Tuesday Congress sent to Johnson the biggest money bill of the year — the $58-billion defense measure.

Attached to the measure was authority for the President to call up either individual reservists or organized reserve units for duty without declaring a national emergency. The President had not asked for the authority.

Conference agreement was reached on bills that would create a Cabinet department of transportation and give federal agencies new flexible regulatory powers over banks and savings and loan institutions. The measures now go back to both chambers for final action.

More Flying Objects

People are still seeing flying objects in the sky, according to Kingston police who received a call Tuesday night that tenants in a house on West Pierpont Street reported they saw an object in the sky with red and white lights. The object reportedly appeared not far from a tower at Port Ewen.

Must Convince Agressors They Can Not Win War

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Nationalist China declared today that peace will not be restored in Viet Nam "until the Communist aggressors are convinced that they cannot win by force."

"At present they are not so convinced," Ambassador Liu Chieh said in a policy speech prepared for delivery before the 119-nation U.N. General Assembly. "On the contrary, they believe that they are already half way to victory."

Liu asserted that neither North Viet Nam nor Red China wants a political solution in Viet Nam.

"The only language they understand is the language of force and violence," he declared.

Viet Nam was the chief topic discussed in a 50-minute meeting late Tuesday between British Foreign Secretary George Brown and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Brown told newsmen the talk was "very very good and friendly and very frank, and I mean very frank."

It was the second meeting for the two ministers in three days. At their first, on Saturday, Gromyko turned down Brown's proposal that Britain and the Soviet Union as cochairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina reconvene the parley to get peace negotiations going on Viet Nam. Informed sources said Gromyko didn't change his position Tuesday.

Withall Objects

posal, Withall said that the J. F. Kennedy School was built as part of the urban renewal project in the city. He said he does not see the need for additional schools in the city, especially at this time, although he conceded that in future years, possibly 20 years, there might be a need for more schools within the city.

"Our problem today," Withall said, "is to build schools where we now have the increase in children population. It would be a pretty tough nut to crack to try to sell the public the idea to build schools where there are not sufficient children at this time."

Withall contended that the main problem at present is to build new schools in areas where there are the children awaiting accommodations.

Says City Lags

Noting that before long school officials must consider a new school in the East Kingston area "before they get urban renewal on the road." He further contended that in his opinion the school district is far ahead of the city in its planning for the future.

Confident of Action

Emphasizing the immediate need for new schools in other sections of the district at the present, Withall said that he is confident that when there is a need for new school buildings in the city of Kingston, the Board of Education then in office, will give the matter their sincere efforts to provide such buildings.

The school district official pointed out that the future of urban renewal and the population growth involving children, might bring out the need for additional schools in the city, but for the time being he sees no immediate need for new school buildings here.

Report President

proposed three-year contract would be wiped out at the present rate of sharp price hikes.

General Electric workers involved in the negotiations now average about $2.80 per hour plus some 45 cents more in fringe benefits.

The unions, charging the company with a long history of undercutting wages and working conditions after a contract is signed, also demand binding arbitration to settle grievances that have led in the past to a rash of strikes at the firm's approximately 160 plants around the nation.

And the union wants to narrow geographical pay differentials, which they say now result in as much as 85 cents per hours less pay in southern plants than in northern factories for the same work.

But the roots of the bitter dispute go much deeper than the economic issues.

'Not Economics'

"It's not economics. It's either union politics or something else," said chief company negotiator Philip D. Moore.

Union spokesmen claim the "something else" is a long pent up frustration among General Electric workers, who they say earn at least 25 cents an hour less than workers in comparable industries.

The unions also contend the company still clings to the "take it or leave it" philosophy of its former labor relations chief, Lemuel Boulware.

"Boulwarism," under which the company used to start negotiations with what it called its best "full and fair" offer and then refused to increase it, has been ruled illegal by the National Labor Relations Board. It is now in the federal courts on appeal.

Some observers believe both sides may want a showdown strike to see whether the new united front of the unions can stand up.

Questions, Answers on Federal Tax

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I got a small scholarship which pays my tuition costs for one semester. Does this have to be counted as taxable income?

A—Scholarships are generally not taxable. It would be advisable to check with your District Director.

Q—You made a mistake in my refund check. Who do I write about it?

A—You should write to your District Director. When any change is made in a refund as requested by the taxpayer when he files his return, an explanation of the change is usually sent. When you receive this, if you have not already, it should answer the question you have about the refund.

Q—Is a trip to another city for medical treatment deductible?

A—It is if the trip is primarily for, and essential to, medical care and not taken for personal reasons. The transportation costs will be deductible but not the costs of meals and lodging unless they are furnished by a hospital.

On Social Security

Q — My boss stopped taking out for Social Security. Why?

A — Probably because the maximum has been withheld for the year. Social Security taxes are withheld on the first $6,600 of wages paid to an employee by the employer. If you have already received that amount from one employer no more will be withheld by that employer for Social Security for the rest of 1966. However, if you work for more than one employer during the year, each employer will withhold Social Security taxes on the first $6,600 of wages paid to you. If your total wages for the year from which Social Security taxes were withheld exceed the $6,600 maximum, the excess may be claimed as a credit on your income tax return.

Q — My neighbor is paying me $25 a week to look after her little girl while she is at work. Is this money taxable?

A — Yes it is. The income should be included with whatever other income you receive to determine whether your gross income was $600 or more. If you file jointly with your husband, the income has to be included with the return you file.

If you determine the nature of the services and provide them in your own home and the amount you receive from your neighbor totals $400 or more for the year, you must file a return and pay self-employment tax. That tax will help you build up retirement benefits under Social Security.

Q — I filed an amended return some months ago and I still haven't received the additional refund I have coming. What's the hold up?

A—The filing of an amended return presents unavoidable delays. Amended returns are considered claims, even if the amended return contains all the information called for, the amended return must be associated with the original return you filed. And if your original return had been pulled out of the normal processing cycle for any reason (it might be taken out for audit for example) the association will take longer. Even after the returns are associated, some amended returns will require an audit which further delays issuance of a refund.

Last Payment

Q—When is the last payment on estimated tax due?

A—If your tax ends December 31 as is the case with most taxpayers, the final estimated tax payment is due January 16, 1967. However, if you file your 1966 return by January 31 and pay the full amount of the balance due, then the final estimated tax payment does not have to be made.

Q—I'm a salesman and need a car to cover my route. Can I deduct the purchase price of the car when I file my return?

A—No. However, you may deduct 10 cents for every mile you used the car on your job up to 15,000 miles. If your mileage exceeds that, additional miles traveled on business may be deducted at 7 cents a mile. Tolls, parking and similar items are also deductible.

Instead of this method of deducting your business travel expenses, you may figure the actual operating costs of your car for the year. This involves depreciation, gas and oil, insurance, repairs and other operating costs. Most taxpayers find the mileage method easier.

Board Refuses

action is costing the taxpayers at least, $500 a day.

Election Commissioner Joseph Epstein today stated that "up until last night" no subpoena had been served on the commissioners to produce the registers in Albany. Today was a holiday, Columbus Day, and the Board of Elections office was closed as were all public offices.

Put Curb on Lion

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Wilson Brown's Simba, a 600- pound African lioness, was responsible for the passage recently in Dallas, Tex., of an ordinance that requires wild animals to be kept in cages. Now, Simba has turned out to be the first animal in the city's history charged with violating the statute.

Three Dallas policemen handed Brown a ticket Tuesday when they spied Simba romping around her master's backyard.

Cites Rochester Residents for Aid In Fugitive Hunt

"The hunt for Roy Edison Davis, 25, accused assailant of State Trooper Stanley Kowalik, is over but the outstanding cooperation by the people of the town of Rochester will long be remembered," Rochester Supervisor Franklin S. Kelder told The Freeman today.

In expressing his appreciation to the townspeople Kelder said, "I wish to thank all the people who so faithfully and courageously helped in the largest and most dangerous search ever conducted in this area. The responses of our citizens in this great emergency was overwhelming."

Kelder then cited the teamwork between local law enforcement officials saying, "There was tremendous cooperation between the State Troopers, Ulster County Sheriff's Department and the local constables. They worked long, hard hours together to capture the dangerous Davis."

"The local hotels furnished large amounts of food for the searchers and the local women gave their time to make coffee and serve food. The local people opened their homes to serve food and give whatever assistance they could."

"For 40 hours we lived in fear," Kelder said, "But thanks to the Good Lord and everyone that helped, we are back to normal living."

ing on the TB Hospital grounds, Golden Hill. The present control headquarters are located in the basement of the TB Hospital building. When a proposal was made some time ago, and defeated, to construct an "alternate seat of government" structure underground on the County Office Building site, it was proposed to move the Fire Control headquarters to ample quarters there.

A resolution has also been filed to request the State Department of Public Works to place part of the New Paltz-Minnewaska, New Paltz-County Home, Springtown highways on the next order of construction for secondary federal aid program. After construction with federal aid money, the roads would be maintained by the county.

Three county supervisors have filed resolutions asking for aid for their local libraries. This action follows action of the board last month in adopting by a 16 to 15 vote, to recommend that the Budget Committee include $10,000 in the 1967 budget for the Kingston City Library. Supervisor William West (R), Woodstock, asks for $5,000 for the Woodstock Library; Supervisor Peter Williams (R), Saugerties, asked for $3,500 for the Saugerties Library and Supervisor Charles E. Penney (R), Shawangunk, asks for $2,000 for the Wallkill Library.

Wants Measure Recalled

Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner, has filed a resolution calling for a rescinding of the action taken in September which recommends that the Kingston City Library request be considered.

At the September meeting a controversy arose when a Republican supervisor sought to change his vote on the Library situation. Majestic will offer a resolution "clarifying" this situation and allowing a change of vote "before the chairman announces the result" of the voting on the motion or resolution.

The Planning Board would be authorized to take steps necessary and make a study of a county-wide plan for collection, treatment and disposal of sewage under a resolution pre-filed.

The Tax Base Study Committee would be authorized to make a study of the Real Property Tax Law and need for adoption of a Local Law following a public hearing tentatively set for October 27 at 7:30 p. m. in the board of supervisors rooms. This resolution is filed by Majority Leader Savago.

More on Bricks

Supervisor Majestic has filed a resolution requiring that a copy of the report of Augustus R. Schrowang Associates on the "selection of face brick for the Ulster County Community College" be supplied every supervisor at the next regular meeting.

Democratic Supervisors John J. Lucci, Fifth Ward, and Irving Bell, Sixth Ward, offer a resolution calling for the board to adopt the recommendations of the Board of Health, which was voted 5 to 1, on use of the Tuberculosis Hospital.

Supervisor Majestic also presents a resolution fixing the hours of the Board of Elections, and requiring the Commissioners of Election to "instruct personnel of the County Board of Elections that no person or persons be permitted to use the facilities of the Board of Elections, unless on county business, after the working hours of 5 p. m.; or allowed to remove any records from premises for their own personal use."

Adjourn Robbery Case

William J. Williams, 25, who told police he resides at 237 Hasbrouck Avenue, today received an adjournment until Thursday, when he appeared before City Judge Hubert A. Richter on a charge of first degree robbery. Williams was arrested early Saturday, accused of clubbing and robbing William Fox, 72, of RD 3, Box 262, Kingston, on East Pierpont Street near Broadway. Police said Williams was relieved of more than $100 during the alleged assault.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market erased a loss and showed an irregularly higher trend early this afternoon. Trading was light.

Attendance in Wall Street was cut by the Columbus Day observance. Many banks, insurance companies and other financial institutions were closed.

The market was down in the morning as traders continued to sell allowing the vigorous two-day recovery which left some opportunities for quick gains.

Strength in some of the blue chip chemicals and oils helped pull up the list to an even keel or better.

A number of glamor stocks recovered from early losses.

Selective strength was shown among nonferrous metals and electronics. Tobaccos, farm implements and drugs were mostly lower.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .1 at 273.8 with industrials and rails unchanged and utilities off .2.

Gains of ¼ by Du Pont and about a point by Texaco and Standard Oil (New Jersey) helped the averages. 0

IBM was off about 1½ as was Sears, Roebuck. Down a point or so were Boeing and United Aircraft.

Sperry Rand and Xerox recovered more than a point each.

Airlines were mixed, with Eastern up about a point and United off nearly a point.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally higher in moderate trading.

Allows Reserves Call

Congress Passes $58 Billion Bill For Defense Needs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has passed a $58-billion defense appropriation bill containing authority for the President to call up nearly 2 million reservists without declaring a national emergency.

Johnson had not sought the callup authority — a power he lacks unless he declares a state of national emergency — which will extend to June 30. Johnson is not expected to use it under present conditions.

After the House approved it Tuesday by a 305-42 vote, the Senate sent the defense measure to President Johnson by a voice vote.

The appropriation would finance most defense costs, including the Viet Nam war, for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

The callup authority was a compromise between House and Senate versions and empowers the President to call up entire units of the ready Reserve or National Guard, as well as individuals not assigned to units and who have not served at least 24 months on active duty and have not fulfilled Reserve military requirements.

Mishap Reveals Cuban Refugee Ferrying Service

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A risky ferry service has been brought to public attention with the disappearance of 44 Cuban refugees in a small boat caught by Hurricane Inez.

Thousands of refugees have been whisked out of Communist Cuba by exiles in this country who make the hazardous voyage back and forth across the often rough Florida Straits.

Probed Tragedy

The Coast Guard investigated the tragedy of last weekend in which only the boat's captain, Enrique Gonzalez, 32, survived. A second man picked up with Gonzalez later died and four bodies have been recovered.

Gonzalez said the disastrous voyage was his eighth, and the first unsuccessful one. He said he and 45 passengers were tossed into the sea when a "huge wave" capsized his overcrowded 24-foot -blockade runner.

Some members of Miami's Cuban colony of 150,000 claim the price of bringing refugees to Miami has been as high as $1,000 each.

But operators of the shuttle service say there is no fare.

An exile identified only as Juan, said he has made five ferry trips to Cuba and has brought back more than 200 refugees.

Say Cost Is $1,000

"It costs more than $1,000 to make a trip," he said. "You may make it into Cuba, or the Castro patrols may kill you or capture you. You may make it back or you may not.

"We allow people to pay us whatever they wish to bring back their relatives. Some give us their car or a gold ring or money. Others nothing."

Ten flights arrive weekly in a refugee airlift financed by the U.S. government. More than 37,000 have arrived by airlift.

But the young, draft-age men are not permitted to make these flights and so the ferry service continues.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor & Analyst

Dividends Not Affected By Market Fluctuations

Q) "I've been told that dividends remain the same regardless of the price fluctuations of a stock. Is this true?" A.B.

A) Yes, under normal conditions. Corporate profits are shared with stockholders by the payment of regular cash dividends. The amount of the dividend is determined by net income and the corporation's policy of paying out a percentage of its net earnings. This may range from ten per cent to 75 per cent. So long as earnings are well maintained, the dividend is usually secure, despite daily price fluctuations.

But if earnings slide off and this continues, the price of the stock will decline. If the gap narrows between net earnings and the payout, doubt arises as to the safety of the dividend. If the stock continues to decline, the relation of its price to the dividend pushes up the yield, until the latter may arise above the interest rate paid on savings accunts and other fixed income investments.

Should a stock yield eight per cent in contrast to an average interest return of 4½ per cent, the higher yield is a danger signal. The next dividend declaration may be lowered; or if the corporation is facing some unexpected adversity, the dividend may be eliminated.

Q) "You sometimes refer to a member of the New York Stock Exchange. Are these members elected in some way?" S.T.

A) To become a member of the Exchange, it is necessary to buy a "seat." This is a personal franchise, purchased from someone already a member who intends to withdraw. But membership is not achieved automatically. A thorough study is conducted in the personal and business background of the applicant and the transfer of the seat must be approved by a two-thirds vote of the Board of Governors of the Exchange.

and ammunition dumps and buildings of North Vietnamese troops in the six- mile-wide buffer area.

No planes were reported lost over the North, but the U.S. command said Communist groundfire in South Viet Nam brought down a U.S. Air Force F100 Supersabre today 32 miles southwest of Can Tho, in the southern province of Kien Giang. The two crewmen were rescued unhurt by an Army helicopter, a spokesman said.

Linked to Manila Summit

The dissension in Ky's cabinet stemmed from traditional suspicion and mistrust between leaders from South Viet Nam's southern provinces and those from North Viet Nam and the Northern provinces of South Viet Nam. But the resignation threat apparently was timed to exert maximum political leverage, coming as it did two weeks before Ky is to attend the Manila summit conference on Viet Nam.

The five southerners charged northerners in the government were maneuvering against southerners in the cabinet, which is made up of 10 civilian ministers in addition to the ruling 10-man military junta.

Sources said the threatened walkout stemmed from the arrest of a high official in the health department who was suspected of "overt southern political planning."

A U.S. spokesman reported that 1st Cavalrymen who were led to an abandoned Viet Cong prisoner-of-war camp by a 14-year-old Vietnamese boy Monday afternoon found 12 Vietnamese captives shot to death with their hands tied behind their backs.

The boy and four other prisoners had escaped from the camp near the central coast when Viet Cong guards fired into the prisoners and threw a grenade into their enclosure, the spokesman reported.

The U.S. Command announced the termination of Operation Sunset Beach, a search and destroy sweep by units of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division 30 miles northwest of Saigon. Since the operation started Sept. 2, the infantrymen reported killing 84 Viet Cong and capturing 46.

U.S. pilots flew 398 sorties over South Viet Nam Tuesday and claimed they destroyed or damaged more than 350 Viet Cong huts, bunkers, sampans and fortified positions. South Vietnamese pilots flew 165 combat sorties.

Cancer Society Plans Meeting in Syracuse

A Workshop for Tumor Registry Secretaries in Upstate counties will be held at the headquarters of the American Cancer Society, New York State Division, Inc., in Syracuse Friday, Oct. 28, from 1 to 5 p. m.

The workshop is being sponsored by the New York State Division and the Bureau of Cancer Control of the State Department of Health.

Participants in the Workshop will be: Abraham Ringel, for many years consultant of tumor registries for the American Cancer Society; Dr. Daniel Burdick, Syracuse, immediate past president of the New York State Division; Dr. Vincent H. Handy, director, Bureau of Cancer Control, State Department of Health; and William W. Pinkel, executive vice president, New York State Division, American Cancer Society.

Beckner said Jewel decided on price cuts of 10 to 20 per cent in staple items "in anticipation that the bargains would attract additional business. We are going to hold the low prices as long as we can."

Most of the price cuts are in staples such as canned goods and package items that are bought in quantity and held for some time without danger of spoilage.

Some Cut Meat Prices

A & P stores announced in two-page advertisements "scores and scores of prices reduced." The newspaper advertisements also plugged a current prize contest.

Some of the chains also announced reductions in fresh meat prices.

Food chains usually show a profit of 1 to 1½ cents on each dollar of business volume and no one would predict how long the lower prices would hold.

However, figures compiled by the Bureau of Labor statistics show that retail prices of some staples have been higher in Chicago than in any other of the nation's 12 largest cities — apparently allowing some slack for lower prices.

Snow, Flurries Hit Adirondacks, Southern Tier

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Light snow and flurries dusted the western Adirondacks and the state's Southern Tier overnight, leaving up to an inch over higher elevations this morning.

The Weather Bureau forecast scattered frost for tonight after a few daytime showers. Thursday is expected to be a little warmer in the eastern portion but continued cool in the western section, under generally fair skies.

The snow lasted only briefly, however, as skies began to clear and temperatures climbed out of the 30s and 40s toward the 50s and 60s.

Binghamton reported snow showers for about an hour just before dawn, but there was no accumulation, the Weather Bureau said.

A bureau observer in Boonville said rain gave way to light snow showers there at about 9 p.m. Tuesday night and that one inch of snow covered higher elevations in the area, about 25 miles north of Utica.

Bishop Installed

charged Bishop McManus in the name of Cardinal Spellman:

"My Brother Bishop: In order to fulfill in a more fruitful way our office as teachers, sanctifiers, and providers of the people of God; to indicate our earnest desire to share with the Holy Father a concern for the Whole Church; to provide more zealously for the care of this diocese; to carry the pastoral ministry as directly as possible to our people; in accord with the spirit of the Second Vatican Council resulting in the establishment of the office of episcopal vicar, I appoint, designate, and commission you as a coworker with me in the government of the diocese." The ceremony of installation was concluded by the presentation by Archbishop Maguire of the seal of the vicariate to Bishop McManus.

Bishop McManus used as the text for his homily in the Mass the words of Christ, "I am the Good Shepherd". He developed this theme showing how the Bishop was the shepherd uniting his flock and standing among them as one who serves. After the Mass words of welcome were spoken to the Bishop by Father Lerhinan, Msgr. O'Reilly and Raymond J. Mino, County Judge of Ulster, for the people of Ulster and Sullivan Counties.

After the ceremonies were concluded the new episcopal vicar greeted and received the clergy of all faiths, civic officials and the many people from all over Ulster and Sullivan Counties who had gathered to celebrate his investiture with him. A buffet lunch was served for the entire assembly at the seminary.

Bishop McManus will also serve as pastor of the Church of the Presentation, Port Ewen. He, with the five other newly appointed episcopal vicars of the Arhcdiocese of New York, was invested by Francis Cardinal Spellman in historic ceremonies Monday at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

At that time, the Cardinal revealed that he had offered his resignation as Archbishop of New York and military vicar of the Armed Forces of the United States in Compliance with Pope Paul's request for bishops over 75 to offer their resignations.

Cardinel Spellman, who is 77, said that the resignation was not accepted and that he would continue to serve "as long as I am able, to the best of my ability."

The New York Archdiocese is the first diocese outside of Rome to carry out the new instructions concerning appointment of Episcopal vicars. Others appointed in addition to Bishop McManus are Bishop Terence J. Cooke, Manhattan; Bishop Edward V. Dargin, Westchester; Bishop George H. Guilfoyle, Staten Island; Bishop Joseph M. Pericone, Dutchess and Putnam; Bishop John M. Fearns, Orange and Rockland.

DeFelicis Issues Statement on Recent Meeting

The following is a statement issued today by Supervisor Gerard DeFelicis of the Town of Rosendale in reply to statements made last week by Joseph Reid, Rosendale village trustee.

"Once again I find myself in a position of having to defend the intentions of our town board due to another play for personal publicity by Joseph Reid, village trustee. This time it is the ridiculous charge of barring the public from having a voice in town and village affairs.

"The meeting in question was requested as an informal one between the village and town board to try to work out the most efficient way our town and village police could better serve all the people.

"It was not intended to be nor was it requested by Mr. Reid to be a public hearing. Our town board minutes will bear this out. Any decisions or ideas to come out of this meeting would have been presented to the people at our respective town and village board meeting for their approval or disapproval. In fact, our town police had been answering calls anywhere in the Town of Rosendale whether in the village or elsewhere. However, Mr. Reid complained of police interference and requested this meeting, a complaint he has since denied making. This meeting was not advertised to the public by Mr. Reid or anyone else. In fact, the public Mr. Reid claims was barred, was actually one man, the only person to show up other than town and village board members. I certainly would not go along with passing this off as a public hearing with one taxpayer present.

"If Mr. Reid felt as he claims, why did he not advertise this meeting through the press or radio? The answer is obvious. Mr. Reid never intended this meeting to be held. It was just another chance to put his own personal political ambitions ahead of the people's interests. So the sum total is, even though both town and village board members were present and prepared for a meeting, no meeting was held and no solution to a community problem reached. Rather, as intended by Mr. Reid, there were more political charges and counter-charges and more publicity for Mr. Reid.

"Our town board is ready at any time to meet with the village board at an informal meeting or a public hearing to discuss this police problem or any problem arising in our community. However, if it is to be a public hearing, it will be advertised as such as legally prescribed by law, not by personal invitations from Mr. Reid. I have spoken with Mayor Mulligan and he heartily endorses my viewpoint on such meetings and is likewise appalled at Mr. Reid's total disregard of the interests of his community in his personal quest for publicity.

"It is an interesting sidelight in this day when so many people in the entertainment field are entering the political arena to see someone try to reverse the procedure and use public office to break into show business. As for myself, I am an elected official interested in the needs of my community first, with or without headlines."

Human Interest Basis of Awards

Camoin's picture of a child looking up a fireplace for Santa Claus won him a Polaroid Color Pack camera, according to Julie Golombik, Caldor photographic equipment buyer, who was in charge of the photography show.

Golombik said the prizes were awarded on a human interest basis and not on technical quality because entries were received from amateurs of all different levels. Ulster Town Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewizc, Ronald H. Avery, president of the Ulster County Businessmen's Association and Frederick P. Carpenter, vice president of the Ulster branch of the Kingston Trust Co., served as judges for the contest.

Mel J. Sein, 7 Smith Street, Red Hook, was awarded an Argus Auto Table Viewer for his picture of a child and horse which took third prize.

The photography show featured exhibitions and demonstrations of the latest advances in photographic equipment and was highlighted by an appearance of Penny Donoghue, Miss New York State.

The Caldor camera show was open free to the public and included many of the same exhibitions that were featured at recent photography trade shows. Top experts in the field of photography demonstrated new equipment and gave professional tips on how to take better pictures with all types of equipment, both new and old.
